A New White House Offer

The Case of the Missing Tapes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House offered today to let a federal judge listen to one of President Nixon's Watergate tapes to hear for himself that a crucial part of a conversation in April between Nixon and John W. Dean III about the scandal never was recorded.

The White House also recommended that electronics experts be called in to certify that Nixon's remaining secret tapes "are complete and have not been tampered with" in any way.

White House lawyer J. Fred Buzhardt made the offers at a hearing before Chief U. S. District Judge John J. Sirica about the stunning disclosure that two of the nine tape recordings Nixon has promised to produce under court order apparently never existed.

The schedule posted outside Sirica's courtroom said the hearing, recessed from Wednesday, was "to ascertain the reasons, if any, relative to the nonexistence" of the critical tapes.

The two conversations that the White House now says do not exist involved a telephone call from Nixon to John N. Mitchell on June 20, 1972, three days after the Watergate bugging arrests; and an hour-long meeting between Nixon and Dean on April 15, shortly before Dean was fired as White House counsel.

Buzhardt said the Nixon-Dean meeting was not recorded because the recording machine ran out of tape. He said he would submit the recording that does exist for April 15 "so the judge himself can hear (the tape) running out."

Related stories, photo on pages 3 and 25.

The Mitchell-Nixon telephone conversation, the White House said Wednesday, was not recorded because the call was made from an extension in the residential wing of the White House that was not plugged into the recording system.

Buzhardt said he would call three witnesses and submit documentary evidence to prove that the tapes do not exist.

But, he said, all the rest of the tapes "are still in existence in their entirety." He said the two tapes turned up missing several weeks ago, but searches continued and it was not until last weekend that White House officials concluded they never existed. He said the search continued as late as Wednesday.

The news of the missing tapes brought immediate questions from Capitol Hill.

"There's no way on God's green earth anybody's going to believe that," said Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., chairman of the House Commerce Committee, which has looked into peripheral Watergate matters.

The White House appeared concerned over the possible impact of the news on an already skeptical American public. Press spokesman called reporters at home to explain carefully why the two tapes didn't exist. When asked if the public would accept the story, presidential counsel J. Fred Buzhardt shrugged and said, "I don't know."

Sirica said one the missing tapes was a recording of a four-minute phone call between Nixon and Mitchell on June 20 last year, three days after the Watergate bugging arrests, and would have shown how much, if anything, Mitchell told Nixon about the bugging at that time. The President says he did not learn of any White House involvement in the Watergate affair until March, 1973. The other tape was of a 55-minute meeting between Nixon and Dean April 15 this year, shortly before Dean was fired as White House counsel.

From what has been said publicly about the tapes, it was possible they might have supported President Nixon. Mitchell has said he gave no Watergate details in his conversation. Dean has said he believed Nixon recorded the second conversation "to protect himself."

Saxbe, Jaworski Named to Posts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today named Sen. William B. Saxbe as attorney general and approved the selection of Leon Jaworski as new Watergate special prosecutor with full independence and safeguards against being fired.

The President promised not to discharge Jaworski, as he had Archibald Cox, without obtaining the consent of House and Senate Democratic and Republican leaders and top members of the two judiciary committees in Congress.

Nixon appeared personally in the White House briefing room to announce his nomination of Saxbe, an Ohio Republican who is not seeking re-election, as successor to Elliot Richardson, who resigned Oct. 20 rather than follow Nixon's orders to fire Cox.

LEON JAWORSKI

The President, without answering questions, then turned the podium over to acting Atty. Gen. Robert Bork, who announced that Jaworski would become special prosecutor to pursue "the Watergate matter and related subjects."

Bork said that Jaworski has been "promised the full cooperation of the executive branch." Should Jaworski decide that he needs presidential documents, Bork said, "there will be no restrictions placed on his freedom . . . "

Bork said Jaworski, a confidant of the late President Lyndon B. Johnson, would have the same broad mandate which had been given Cox. In addition, Bork said that Nixon has given "his personal assurance" that he will not fire Jaworski without first consulting with the specified congressional leaders and "ascertaining that their consensus is in accord with his proposed action."

The firing of Cox after his refusal to abide by Nixon's orders to drop efforts in court to obtain confidential White House tapes and documents touched off a massive controversy and triggered moves to start impeachment proceedings.

Bork underscored the same point saying: "Mr. Jaworski is not coming on with any limitations on his freedom of action."

But the bearded former Yale professor who assumed the role as acting attorney general on Oct. 20 and fired Cox as his first act said he does not expect continued court battles over access to White House tapes and documents.

"I anticipate reasonableness on both sides," he said. As for the other staff of investigators and prosecutors that Cox had formed, Bork indicated he believed Jaworski would retain Cox's appointees.

"I stated to him that I thought that staff was indispensable to the rapid . . . prosecution of these cases," Bork said. "He fully agreed."

Saxbe told reporters he was satisfied "the President has acted honorably in the situations that have risen since Watergate."

Both selections face an uncertain reception in Congress.

The nominee for attorney general must be confirmd by the Senate. In addition, Congress is considering proposals to set up a court-appointed Watergate prosecutor not subject to firing by Nixon.

Archibald Cox was fired Oct. 20 as special Watergate prosecutor for refusing to drop his court battle for White House tape recordings on Watergate. Elliot L. Richardson resigned as attorney general the same day rather than carry out Nixon's order to fire Cox.

Jaworski said Wednesday night the matter of becoming the new Watergate prosecutor had been put to him in the light of patriotic service, and he said he would accept it in that spirit.

When asked what role he thought the special prosecutor should play, Jaworski said he sees the role as one that must have complete independence.

Saxbe said he believes Nixon went too far in agreeing to release tapes of presidential conversations dealing with the case.

The 57-year-old senator said he believes the tapes are privileged and "about as intimate a thing as can be." He said he believed he would have the independence necessary to operate as attorney general.

Mrs. Meir in Capital for Peace Talks

By United Press International

Israel took its terms for Middle East peace talks to Washington today, picking up where Egypt left off. At the truce front, opposing soldiers manned the shaky cease-fire lines within shouting distance of each other.

Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir was in Washington to seek "answers and clarifications" about U.S. policy in meetings today with President Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

She was expected to seek U.S. support for a prisoner of war exchange before Israeli troops pull back to the lines they held at the Oct. 22 start of the on-again, off-again cease-fire.

In Beirut, guerrilla sources reported the main Palestinian organizations on the verge of a major internal split over whether to accept the cease-fire and sit down to eventual peace talks with Israel.

The sources said only one guerrilla group, the left-wing Popular Democratic Front for the Liberation of Palestine, has come out so far in favor of a Soviet-Egyptian invitation to sit in on peace talks. Other commando groups, notably the Marxist Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, have refused to discuss a compromise settlement to the conflict.

Mrs. Meir told reporters on arrival in Washington Wednesday there was a "real and basic friendship" between Israel and the United States. But she said, "naturally, from time to time problems and questions arise about which we seek answers and clarifications."

Nixon met Wednesday with Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmi, who reportedly urged the President to pressure Israel into pulling its forces back to the Oct. 22 lines. Fahmi was still in Washington today, but State Department spokesmen denied speculation about a possible U.S.-arranged meeting between him and Mrs. Meir.

Kissinger, who was scheduled to leave Monday for a tour of Arab capitals to discuss a Middle East peace, briefed the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Wednesday on his efforts.

"We believe we are making progress," he told newsmen. "We have identified two problems. One is to establish the cease-fire firmly. The second is to move from the cease-fire to a durable peace settlement."

On the outskirts of Egypt's Suez City at the southern end of the canal, UPI reporter Thomas Cheatham said the confrontation between Israeli and Egyptian troops manning the truce lines only 20 yards apart "has taken on the appearance of a tragicomic zoo."

Inside looking out, Cheatham said, were an estimated 10,000 sullen Egyptian troops trapped with little food or water. Outside looking in, he said, were "clowning Israeli soldiers with water and food to spare."

A military spokesman in Tel Aviv today said Israeli troops killed six Egyptians Wednesday along the shaky Middle East cease-fire lines. In Washington, Israel took its terms for peace to President Nixon.

The military spokesman said combat erupted twice on the truce lines, with both incidents caused by Egyptian cease-fire violations.

He said Israeli forces killed six Egyptian troops, wounded another and suffered two wounded in a flareup on the Suez-Cairo highway. The Israelis captured two other Egyptians in the action.

A Ride on the Plush Turbotrain

By TIM SCHUSTER

RHINECLIFF

We caught a ride from Rhinecliff to Hudson on Amtrak's new turbine-powered train Wednesday and found it more akin to the feel of a passenger jet plane than the traditional Penn Central coach.

Amtrak is testing the train from New York City to Buffalo, but does not intend to use it on those tracks, at least for awhile. Two of the trains are in regular scheduled intercity passenger service between New York City and Boston and are the only new non-electrified intercity passenger trains made in the U. S. to reach operational status in the past 15 years.

A bit of public relations lobbying for the state's transportation bond issue, to be voted on Tuesday, was accomplished by Department of Transportation Commissioner Raymond T. Schuler.

Schuler, addressing about 100 people in Rhinecliff and maybe 150 in Hudson along the way, pointed to the high speed rail equipment testing and the impending bond issue vote as the two reasons he was making the trip. The train left New York City Wednesday morning, spent the night in Albany, and moved on to Buffalo today.

He said that the DOT program for this region calls for an item on high speed rail service in this area, and told the crowd in Rhinecliff that the stop "brings back memories." Schuler is a native of Kingston.

The four-car, two-engine turbo train, painted Amtrak's bright orange and blue colors, drew close scrutiny by members of the public along the way, and many questions on its specifications.

It is plush inside, with padded and comfortable seating, modern lavatories similar to those on jets, wall-to-wall carpeting, improved air conditioning and heating, a quieter and less jouncy ride than the average passenger train, and even pressurized cabins.

The train was built by United Aircraft, and is checked out for service at speeds in excess of 100 miles per hour. The turbo train was operated at a speed of 170 miles an hour on the U. S. Department of Transportation's high speed track in New Jersey.

Unfortunately, most tracks in the country cannot accommodate such speeds—the train was limited to 70 miles an hour on the Penn Central track in the Hudson Valley, and seemed to be barely moving at that speed.

The train's route through New York State was described by Amtrak as "a program of testing over routes . . . which simulate conditions on the tracks over which the train eventually will operate." Only from New York to Washington, D. C. can the train be hoped to fulfill its full speed potential, commented a DOT spokesman on the train.

Some "bugs" are being worked out of the system along the way. The train was forced to halt in Germantown, just south of Hudson, when a "hot box" was reported on one of the wheels through a computer. No problem was discovered, but officials said that reports had to be checked and that gauges might be the problem.

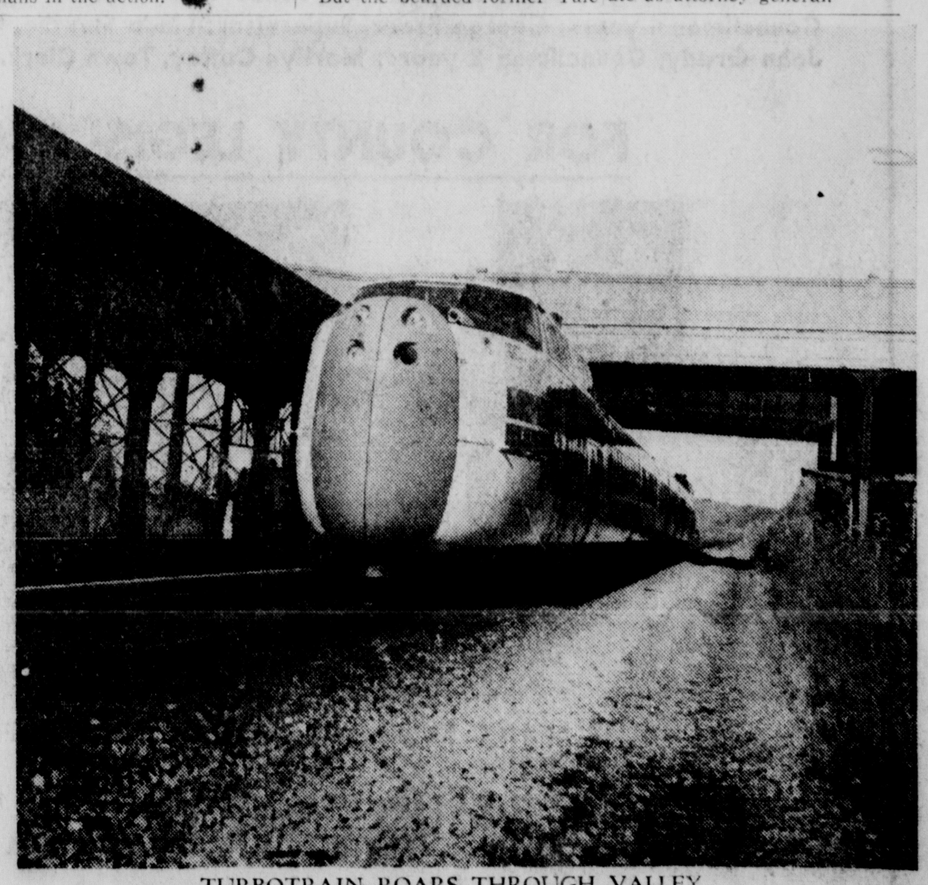

A major technological advance in the turbo train is its pendulous banking suspension system. The trains are suspended from near the top of the cars, above the center of gravity, on an A-frame type of assembly.

The suspension system is located between the cars, except in the power dome cars, where it is located below the dome.

The system causes the train to bank inward around curves under the influence of centrifugal force, as opposed to the outward motion experience by conventional trains, enabling the train to round curves with passenger comfort and safety at speeds 25 to 30 per cent faster than conventional trains.

Some other "improvements" are seen to be powerful 520 horsepower gas turbine engines and many interchangeable parts, such as engines, gearboxes and mountings, and improved electrical wiring.

The ride was fine—and it now appears that technology must only await some solution to the nation's railroad's problems to bring its full benefits to the consumer.

Quiet Halloween, Some Minor Incidents

KINGSTON

Treats galore—but few tricks—highlighted Wednesday night as goblins, ghosts and other grotesque ghouls made their traditional yearly Halloween appearances throughout Ulster County.

Area police agencies reported a relatively quiet night, with some exceptions, as children made their rounds in their diversified costumes.

Of the prankish incidents noted, egg throwing, shaving cream, and toilet paper (and of course some soaped windows) led the parade.

Kingston Police reported three serious incidents that occurred during the night.

City police received a report that a child had received a cookie containing a needle during the child's round of trick-or-treating. The report is under investigation

In another incident, city police said a 1973 Cadillac parked on Greenkill Avenue was reported to have been sprayed with paint.

A door was also reported broken at Arace Appliances, 562 Broadway.

Esopus Town Police said the top and seats of a car were slashed in Lakeview Terrace, and a bus stop was tipped over in St. Remy.

But all in all, incidents conjured up by the witch's brew remained of a minor nature.

"It was quiet," was the general consensus of opinion from police agencies.

As one Saugerties Village patrolman put it, in typical Halloween language: "It was deader than a doornail."

"There was just the usual egg throwing and that type of thing," a dispatcher for another police agency said.

One report received by city police did have a touch of the macabre in it, however. Police said they received a call informing them a cat had been hit by a car. It was not known whether the cat was black, but it certainly must have been crossing someone's path.

And today . . . well, numerous incidents of stomach aches may well be reported among the ghosts and goblins who returned home with bags filled to the brim with Halloween goodies.

Ellenville Man Arrested in Shotgun Slaying of Wife

ELLENVILLE — A 35-year-old Ellenville man who was alread facing a possible life prison sentence on a drug charge was charged with murder Wednesday night after he allegedly shot and killed his wife in their apartment.

George Calhoun of 181 Center Street was arrested by Ellenville Village Police, assisted by Ellenville State Police BCI, at 7:30 p. m. after allegedly killing his wife, Sarah Calhoun, 33 reportedly following a short argument.

Calhoun and his wife were among five persons arrested Sept. 13 by Ellenville State Police on drug charges after a search warrant had been executed at their Center Street address.

Calhoun had been charged with second degree criminal possession of a controlled substance (possession in excess of one ounce of heroin), which carries with it a possible life prison sentence under the state's new drug laws. Mrs. Calhoun had been charged at the time with criminal nuisance, maintaing a residence for the sale and distribution of heroin.

Both had been confined in Ulster County Jail awaiting further court proceedings, but according to jail records, Mrs. Calhoun was released on bail the same day she was arrested, and George Calhoun was released on bail Sept. 25.

Ellenville Village Police Chief William Trapnell said Mrs. Calhoun had been shot once in the upper left chest with a 12-gauge automatic shotgun.

Trapnell said the shooting apparently occurred at about 7:15 p. m., and that Calhoun turned himself in at the police station at about 7:30 p. m.

The shooting, apparently at close range, occurred in a second floor apartment. State Police indicated witnesses were present.

One man, who police said was in the building, was arrested and charged with tampering with physical evidence after he allegedly attempted to remove a spent shotgun shell from the scene.

He was identified as Jack Weathers, 44, of Hurleyville.

Mrs. Calhoun's body was removed from the scene under the direction of Ulster County Coroner Arthur C. Chipp. An autopsy was scheduled to be performed today.

Calhoun was initially arraigned Wednesday night on the murder charge before Ellenville Village Justice Ronald Elias, but was scheduled to be arraigned today accompanied by a court-appointed attorney. Weathers was also scheduled to be rearraigned today.

Police declined to give details concerning the presence of Weathers at the residence.

DA Lauds Fraud Bureau Record

KINGSTON — "Ulster County's Consumer Fraud Bureau has saved a total of $12,395.33 for the consumers of this county from September 1971 to the present," District Attorney Francis J. Vogt revealed today.

"We are very proud of this figure and I think everyone will agree that the figure is substantial." He also pointed out that it represents only the actual monetary refunds and settlements given to customers and does not include the value of property that has been replaced for the consumer or the assessed value of goods or work done on warrant for a customer pursuant to the action of his office. "If we added all this in, this figure would be much, much higher," Vogt said.

"I am more than pleased with the work of my student investigators. Considering that they serve without pay, they have done a fantastic job for us and for the county."

Vogt, a GOP candidate for reelection, warned consumers that the best protection against fraud is a common sense approach to the purchase of goods, negotiating of home improvements, and dealings with repairmen. "Never accept a deal that seems too good to be true. The overwhelming odds are that you will be taken. When making a substantial home improvement, don't sign any agreement until you consult with an attorney or someone knowledgeable 'in the field", he said. "If there is any question at all that you might be entering into a bad transaction, or if you feel that you have been defrauded, by all means, call our office," Vogt said.

"Most of the complaints are of a recurrent theme. Repair and home improvement complaints lead the list with magazine and record club subscriptions running a close third. There have been an increasing number of false advertising complaints that are presently under investigation," Vogt concluded.

Tax Decrease in Ulster

TOWN OF USTER — Town of Ulster residents are faced with a decrease in taxes in 1974, according to the preliminary budget for next year, town officials announced today.

Town Councilman William Costello announced that the preliminary budget provides for an approximate $2.82 per $1,000 of assessed valuation decrease from the 1973 general fund.

Coupled with an increase of $1.24 (per $1,000) in the highway fund, the decrease in the two areas amounts to approximately $1.57 per $1,000 of assessed valuation, according to Costello.

The preliminary budget shows a more than 50 per cent decrease for the Ulster Sewer Improvement Area, which is down to $4.32 from $8.85 per $1,000 of assessed valuation, according to the announcement.

A public hearing on the preliminary budget for 1974 will be held at the Ulster Town Hall, Wednesday, Nov. 7, at 7:30 p.m.

The budget, submitted by Supervisor Carmine Sabino, has been examined by town board members, and copies are available at the town clerk's office.

Sabino urged wide attendance at the public hearing and said, "I hold myself personally accountable to every resident of our town for every penny in this budget. The Town of Ulster has the lowest taxes of any densely populated township in this county, and as long as I am supervisor, that's exactly how it's going to be."

Body of Youth Is Identified

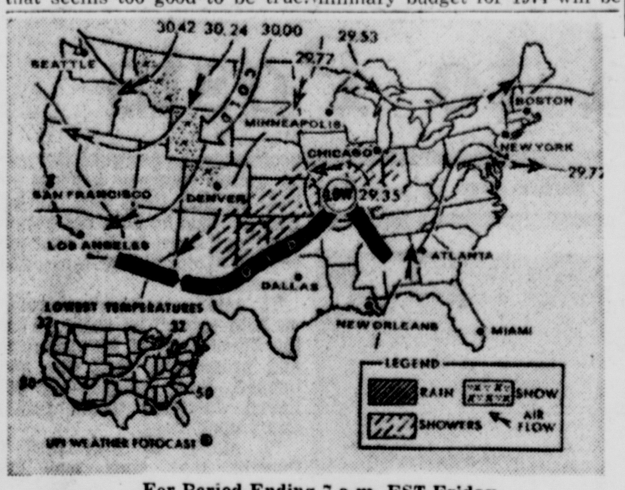

STERLING FOREST, N.Y. (AP)—A young man found dead in an automobile Wednesday near this Orange County community has tentatively been identified as Paul F Prischitta, 17, of Sloatsburg, State Police said.

Prischitta was reported missing July 16 by the Sloatsburg village police.

Remains of the body were discovered by a construction worker in woods off County Route 84, troopers said. The victim had apparently been driving south in the car when it went off the road, crashed through trees and overturned in a 15-foot ditch, police said.

Preliminary identification of Prischitta was made from a wallet found at the scene, troopers reported. An investigation was ordered by the county coroner.

Saxbe Ready . . . 'Warts and All'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, has offered himself "warts and all," as President Nixon's fourth attorney general.

"I have been around here five years, bitching about what I would do if I had the opportunity," Saxbe said Wednesday after his second trip to the White House.

"All at once, they give me the ball. Should I throw it away? It's not something you just walk away from," Saxbe said.

Saxbe conferred with President Nixon for more than an hour Wednesday and indicated after the meeting that only routine background checks remained before his nomination is announced.

After his conference with Nixon, Saxbe said he was "relatively sure" of being named to the post. Later he told reporters he expects the formal announcement to be made Thursday at a full news conference.

In the meeting with Nixon, Saxbe said, the two men discussed Saxbe's past criticism of Nixon and his administration.

"I'm an outspoken guy," Saxbe said. "I told him, "you'll have to take me, warts and all."'

At his second meeting at the White House, with acting Attorney General Robert H. Bork, Saxbe said he had no candidates in mind for the job of Watergate special prosecutor, an appointment Bork is supposed to make later this week.

Saxbe said that if he is named to the top Justice Department job he would have veto power over the man chosen as prosecutor.

"Before any announcement is made, I would meet him and see if we get along," Saxbe said. "If he is a man I couldn't get along with, obviously it couldn't be."

In his discussion with Nixon, Saxbe said, "we went right to the basics of the Watergate matter. I'm convinced he was not a party to the monkey business."

Saxbe served two terms as attorney general of Ohio before he was elected to the Senate in 1968.

Kleindienst Denies Perjury

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst denies he committed perjury by failing to tell the Senate about President Nixon's order to drop the ITT case and his own threat to resign rather than obey.

Kleindienst repeatedly stated under oath during 1972 hearings before the Senate Judiciary Committee that there was no White House pressure on him to halt the antitrust suits against International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

He acknowledged in a statement Wednesday that Nixon telephoned him on April 19, 1971, and, "without any discussion, ordered me to drop the appeal" of one of the three parallel lawsuits.

He defended his Senate testimony by saying he "was not asked whether I had had any contacts with the White House at the time of this decision, and I did not deny any such contacts."

But an examination of the two volumes of the hearing record shows that Kleindienst was asked repeatedly about the sequence of events on April 19.

And he was asked several times if he had ever had any contacts with the White House concerning the ITT case. He repeatedly denied any contacts amounting to pressure or directions and conceded only that the matter may have been mentioned in some of the many casual conversations he had with White House officials.

Kleindienst disclosed for the first time that the controversy forced him to the brink of resigning.

By his account, former presidential advisor John D. Ehrlichman called him on April 19 "and stated that the President directed me not to file the appeal in the Grinnell case . . . I informed him that we had determined to take that appeal, and that he should so inform the President."

Nixon called moments later, repeated the order, and Kleindienst then "sent word to the President that, if he persisted in that direction, I would be compelled to submit my resignation."

April 19 was the deadline for the government to notify the Supreme Court of its intention to appeal a lower court decision against the government's challenge of ITT's acquisition of the Grinnell Corp.

Kleindienst said he then asked the high court for a 30-day extension "to enable the President to consider my position" and Nixon subsequently "changed his mind."

The Justice Department filed the appeal, but then negotiated an out-of-court settlement requiring ITT to divest itself of three subsidiaries and part of a fourth but allowing it to keep the profitable Hartford Fire Insurance Co.

The controversy has focused on allegations that the deal was struck in return for ITT's pledge of political funds.

The Special Watergate prosecution force is investigating whether perjury was committed during the Judiciary Committee hearings in March and April of 1972.

Panel Hears About 'Dirty Tricks'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Watergate committee staff says more than 25 paid agents, financed by $10,000 in Nixon campaign funds, played dirty tricks on Democrats in the 1972 election campaigns.

Mark Lakritz, a committee lawyer, said during hearings Wednesday that those funds did not include an estimated $250,000 used for the Watergate break-in and related activities, or an estimated $400,000 spent to pay lawyers fees and other expenses of Watergate defendants.

Lakritz later told reporters the total figure for Nixon campaign expenditures on such activities in 1972 "will just about reach the $1 million mark when totaled up." But he did not give a breakdown of that figure.

During the hearing, Lakritz produced a chart listing 25 key operatives he said were hired by agents of the Nixon reelection committee. But he said that as many as 60 persons may have carried out the activities.

In one instance, Lakritz said that $1,200 in Nixon campaign funds found its way to two members of the American Nazi Party in California to recruit canvassers to persuade supporters of the pro-George Wallace American Independent Party (AIP) to re-register as Republicans. But he said those in charge of the Nixon campaign did not know the Nazis were participating. He said they were recruited through Robert Walters, a Los Angeles businessman and disenchanted former chairman of the California AIP.

The committee's chart indicated that when Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's campaign reached its peak in January, 1972, there were a dozen operatives hired by Nixon campaign officials trailing the Maine Democrat.

Muskie's former campaign manager, Berl Bernhard, testified their efforts "took a toll in the form of diverting our resources, changing our schedules, altering our political approaches and being thrown on the defensive."

The committee is conducing a quiet inquiry into financial affairs of President Nixon's close friend Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo. Sources said the committee has issued a subpoena for records of Nixon's personal account at Rebozo's Key Biscayne (Fla.) Bank and Trust Co. They said Rebozo declined to comply with an earlier subpoena for some of Nixon's financial records.

Rebozo Defends Himself

MIAMI (AP) — C. G. "Bebe" Rebozo defended Wednesday his handling of a $100,000 Nixon campaign contribution from billionaire Howard Hughes, the Miami Herald reported in a copyrighted story for Thursday editions.

Rebozo said he informed Rose Mary Woods, President Nixon's personal secretary, about the contribution "shortly after" receiving the money in 1970. But he said he did not tell Nixon of the contribution until "after the (1972) election, on one of his visits" to Key Biscayne.

"I knew I had to tell him and I knew that Rose hadn't told him," Rebozo was quoted as telling Herald reporters. "I couldn't sit there forever with this money without at least letting him know about it."

Rebozo said, "Money means nothing to him (Nixon). I don't think he has ever signed a check himself."

Rebozo made his statements in an interview at his lawyer's office Wednesday. The Herald said the interview was the first granted by Rebozo since Nixon became President in 1969.

In the Herald story, Rebozo said a 12-week investigation by the Internal Revenue Service had cleared him of any wrongdoing in handling the $100,000 contribution.

He said he received the money in two separate deliveries of $50,000 and decided to leave the money in a safe deposit box when a controversial internal battle developed in the Hughes organization.

"I thought I would just sit tight and see if this blew over," he said.

He said if the IRS had not become interested "the money would have been used in the '74 congressional campaign."

Rebozo said the IRS investigation began in May 1972 and he returned the money in June 1973.

UR Action in Ellenville

By WADE BURKHART

ELLENVILLE

The Ellenville Urban Renewal Project, which community critics have long accused of inaction, appears to getting into high gear.

Robert Peck, Ellenville Urban Renewal Director, said Wednesday that a closing is expected with the Ellenville National Bank some time late in November. The bank is acquiring Urban Renewal Parcels 4 and 6 to build a new bank building.

Plans for the new building, which is to have a basement and two stories, have been submitted to the Ellenville Urban Renewal Agency, and are to be reviewed by Agency Engineer Alex Diachishin. The plans show a total of 13,100 square feet for the new bank building, and parking for 29 cars.

The bank was named the redeveloper of the land about a year and a half ago, but snags in the title to the land developed, and have only recently been worked out. The estimated cost of the new building is about $500,000.

Final action on the bank plans is expected at the agency's Nov. 14 public meeting.

Action at that meeting is also expected to be taken on the form of the Market Street Mall. The choice of the agency is to have either a permanent or convertible mall. Richard Rothman, proprietor of Richie's on Market Street, has brought suit in State Supreme Court to force the agency to show cause why it has not begun construction on the mall before now.

Peck said the agency had been planning to work on the mall before Rothman brought his suit.

Once the agency decides on the form of the mall, Peck said, the engineer will then come up with a design and cost estimates, and the agency can go to bid on the project.

The concurrence of the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development has been received on a demolition contract bid to take down nine buildings in the project area. The bid was for $17,700 by DeGrodt Enterprises Inc., of Poughkeepsie.

The buildings to be demolished include three on Market Street, a duplex on Warren Street, and five buildings on the American Legion and Rudolph properties. The American Legion and Rudolph properties are the site of the proposed low income housing propect in Ellenville for senior citizens.

Peck said he anticipated the demolition to begin "in a couple of week." He said disposition by the agency of the properties was anticipated "in the immediate future."

The agency, with part of the $600,000 amendatory grant it has received, will acquire the final eight parcels slated for acquisition by the agency in the project area. He said the acquisition of these last parcels had been held up because of lack of funds.

He said developers had shown an interest in some "prime parcels" within the project, and had submitted proposals for their redevolpment to the agency. He said these proposals were lurrently under agency review.

Bard President to Resign

ANNANDALE-ON-HUDSON

Dr. Reamer Kline has announced his impending retirement as president of Bard College, effective June 30, 1974.

In his statement to the college's board of trustees Dr. Kline said, "At June's commencement I shall have been president of the college for 14 years. Of the 13 presidents in Bard's history, only one served longer, and he in the less hectic days of the 19th century."

He said that he expects to turn over all duties June 30 to his successor and move with his wife to a home in Salt Point that the couple purchased a few years ago, continuing some relationship with the college in ensuing years.

"And I hope that from time to time thereafter there will be opportunities for me to be useful in education or the church," he commented.

"Ours is a society undergoing fundamental change," he reflected. "This society confronts education with new demands, new problems, and new opportunities. I think the next president of this college should be a person who understands the new world, can speak for it, and can expect to be a part of it."

Dr. Kline also opined, "Other things being equal, he or she should be young and have a real sense of what a college should be and do in these present days and in the years immediately ahead. And he should have an appreciative perception of Bard's special qualities and place as a college."

Dr. Kline was appointed to Bard College in 1960 after serving as Rector of St. Mark's Episcopal Church, New Britain, Conn.

Under his leadership the college has grown. The student body has tripled in size and the college's curriculum offerings and its physical facilities have been greatly improved and strengthened, and scholarships and endowments expanded.

Board Chairman Paul W. Williams, in accepting President Kline's resignation, expressed "great regret at Dr. Kline's decision to retire" on behalf of the board.

Trustees took immediate action to establish a Presidential Search Committee to seek his successor.

Paltz Finances

Editor, The Freeman:

After looking at the Supervisors' Reports for 1972, one sees mysteries that lead to questions. There were two reports, one by Mr. Moriello covering the period from Jan. 1 to Oct. 31, 1972; the other by Mr. Lasher for the period from Nov. 1 to Dec. 31, 1972.

Although the budget for that year called for expenditures of $644,339, why was the total spent $812,145.67 or $167,806.67 more than was budgeted?

In both reports, Schedule five is blank. This schedule is called COMPARISON OF BUDGET ESTIMATES WITH ACTUAL. Why were the figures for this very important comparison omitted? Mr. Frank Hamilton furnishes such figures to the School Board every month. Certainly, the Town Board should be able to get such figures every month.

Schedule 1 in both reports lists, under STATEMENT OF INDEBTEDNESS, Statutory Bond (Garage) $80,000. If that is for the Town Garage, wasn't $111,000 transferred into the building reserve funds during the 1968-70, according to the State Auditor's report which decried such transfers? Weren't we told at a Town Board meeting that these funds were used to build a Town Garage for $141,000?

Under non-budgetary disbursements, Schedule A-2 records a transfer of $20,000 to other funds. Could that transfer have covered a payment to architects for a pool that was not built? Was it proper to make this transfer from the Town Wide General Fund to which Village Taxpayers make contributions?

On Jan. 1, 1972, Mr. Moriello began the year with $244,803.30 in all funds. Didn't anyone on the town board realize that such a surplus meant that taxes were too high during the previous year?

When Mr. Lasher took office on Nov. 1, 1972, he assumed control of $186,325.18 available in all funds. Didn't this suggest a sizable surplus ($146,956.10) at the end of the year? Then why did the Town Budget for 1973 call for a 30 per cent increase in taxes?

Will the voters in New Paltz come up with the right answers this Election Day?

Yours truly,
LOUIS FAGON
New Paltz

Rosendale Vote

Editor, The Freeman:

Fall is here, school is open, the apples are ripening, and by now most of you have probably received and paid your school tax bill for the 1973 school year. Taxes were one of the major grievances of our American forefathers — the reason they declared and fought for our independence from England. Yet, almost 200 years later, we are again being taxed for just about everything we buy, earn or own.

Please understand my position. I am not entirely against taxes; only unfair ones, and an unfair tax is what my husband and I believe we (and many other Rosendale citizens) are victims of.

When our assessment came in May we were aghast. It was much higher than we had anticipated; when we compared it to our neighbors', we found that our assessment was 50 times greater per acre than one neighbor and 12 and one-half times greater per acre than another neighbor.

We went through all the necessary procedures, but with no satisfaction. When we questioned various officials of the Town of Rosendale about various matters pertaining to our case, they gave us evasive answers. One official was sent a certified letter requesting an answer which we never received. Our talks with other taxpayers have proved that we are not the only ones who are dissatisfied.

Therefore, I am appealing to you, the people. You are the ones who can change things for the better. When election time rolls around, be sure to vote. Vote for the fair-minded responsible citizen whose main objectives will be the welfare of the people. Vote for people who will take the time to talk with you and answer your questions.

Rosendale is in need of a change! Get out and VOTE.

PAUL L. DeLISIO
Woodstock

Single-Member

Editor, The Freeman:

The voters of Ulster County have an important decision to make on election day next Tuesday on a plan for county reapportionment to elect our county legislators.

This is a time when government on all levels needs to be made smaller, less complex, and however possible. But we are asked to approve a plan which does exactly the opposite. Instead of having one man represent one community, we will have two or four or even seven representing a number of different towns in a district under this plan.

What does this accomplish?

We live in a busy age and I often find, as I'm sure many voters do, that it is hard to find time to keep up on school board, local, state and national elections — to know the candidates, to understand the issues. I am at a loss to understand how having to learn the qualifications of eight candidates or even more in our new District Five helps me as a voter.

Sometimes I want to express an opinion to one of my elected representatives. Faced with the prospect of contacting four legislators to voice that opinion, I fear I may not even contact one. How about you?

On the other side of the coin, when election time rolls around, candidates will not, have not, been able to personally contact many voters but must dash about from town to towm making brief appearances in each community so they do not know the voters and the voters do not know them.

However, it disturbs me even more to be asked to vote for this county reapportionment plan not on the plans merits but because we may have to hold another county election or it might cost money to hold another referendum. The referendum on the reapportionment plan being scheduled on the same day as the first election under that plan strikes me as rather devious and certainly is no reason to vote for it.

There is never any excuse to vote away any measure of the voice we have in government at any level. I hope the voters of this county will hold out for single-member legislative districts so we will know who is representing us and, perhaps more importantly, our county lawmakers will remember who they are representing.

Sincerely,
ELSIE WEGLARZ

Distraction?

Editor, The Freeman:

While Richard Nixon and his nefarious cohorts find ways almost daily to further degrade and humiliate the American Republic, you, in a bizarre and cynical twist of logic, choose largely to ignore these disgraces and instead focus your editorial attention on comments made recently by Justice William O. Douglas. (Freeman editorial, October 25, 1973: "Justice Douglas Irresponsible")

Really, Mr. Editor, who are this nation's real enemies? A 75 year old Supreme Court Justice whose thirty-five years of public service have been distinguished by his unswerving dedication and integrity? Or a Presidential administration so riddled with accused and convicted felons that for the first time in my life the people of this country have truly lost faith in their national government?

I submit that your Douglas editorial was a conscious attempt to distract the attentions of your readers from the actions of those people in our government whose policies were, and continue to be, legitimately irresponsible.

I do not think the people will be so easily fooled.

Sincerely,
ROBERT DAVID

Sweeney Actions

Editor, The Freeman:

Kevin Sweeney should be re-elected Town Justice of Woodstock for the simplest and best reason possible: He's been doing a very good job.

He's helped make the Town Board much more responsive and imaginative, and has contributed to the current general feeling of harmony in the community. He can take considerable credit for enacting controls regulating subdivisions, for reopening Big Deep, for implementing the sign ordnance and building code. He's sponsored efforts toward town beautification and keeping Woodstock green.

As Town Justice he's been strict when called for — but has always been fair and compassionate.

I hope he'll be returned to office with the large majority he deserves.

Sincerely yours,
HOWARD LEWIS

Library Questionnaire

Editor, The Freeman:

The reactions of the members of the Common Council and the challenging candidates to the city Library's request for a statement was not worthy of them. It was more worthy of the stuff coming out of Washington. Is it possible the incumbents and challengers are more interested in saving face than saving the library?

Since every political candidate gets questionnaires from every group imaginable, interpreting the library's request as a threat can only be in itself interpreted as a dodge. The Board of Trustees of the library had every right in the world to send out their questionnaire. Furthermore, the candidates for alderman are morally duty-bound to publically state their opinions about the library's future. Hasn't the public got the right to know?

I recommend that the citizens of Kingston withhold their vote from every aldermanic candidate who does not either return the library's questionnaire or make his position publically known. If they insist on ignoring the library, then, by all means, ignore the aldermanic candidates on Election Day.

Angrily yours,
DONALD I. SHORT

No on Bond Issue

The proposed $3.5 billion transportation bond issue is simply too costly a project to be approved by the voters this coming Tuesday.

The real price would come to a staggering $5.9 billion, with interest charges amounting to 41 per cent. That will amount to $2.4 billion dollars. It is a sum that cannot be supported by the taxpayers of this state, and would further increase New York's indebtedness, which is already overbearing.

The bond issue is, in effect, a blank check for the Rockefeller administration. As pointed out by Assemblyman, H. Clark Bell, there is no binding commitment that any of the bond monies would be spent in Ulster County.

Bell and the Freeman on separate occasions have asked for solid assurances in writing from the Department of Transportation that the bait dangled before our eyes—such as the Ellenville by-pass and the construction of the Kingston Arterial—be firmly confirmed with starting dates and information on project cost supplied. Nothing has been received except promises that are reminiscent of past experiences when Ulster received a minimum of the funds from previous bond issues.

There is also the aspect of indirect subsidation of operation costs of New York City's mass transportation system. The propping up of the 35 cent subway fare is a must for Rockefeller's political future. While money from the bond transportation issue cannot legally be funnelled to the subway system, state money from the executive budget, earmarked for capital construction could be siphoned into the general fund where it could be used to maintain the subway fare.

All-in-all, the bond issue is too vague, ill-conceived and much too costly.

Root of U.S. Alert

As Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger told the world when it was threatened by a possible clash of the two super powers, the United States and the Soviet Union are both "partners and adversaries." As partners, they both want to pursue detente—an easing of conflict and a continuation of trade and other exchanges. As adversaries, they each have "nuclear arsenals capable of annihiliating humanity."

That the United States felt it was necessary to put its armed forces around the world on "precautionary alert" was the decisive reminder to the Kremlin that in peace and war it must not be ambiguous in its stance. The Kremlin had signaled acute concern over the fate of Egyptian forces trapped east of the Suez Canal and played with the idea of going to their rescue. The United States refused to intervene with its troops, for fear that some untoward act might loosen the nuclear holocaust both possess.

The root of the problem was the fate of the Egyptian III Corps, some 15,000 to 30,000 men caught on the Sinai. They had made the biggest penetration toward Israel, but were trapped when Israel crossed the Suez and cut off supplies and reenforcements. What had been hailed by Egyptians as a victorious thrust became a disastrous enclave. The Soviets, facing a threatened surrender of its ally, gave ambiguous answers to a possible rescue operation.

It was then that the United States moved firmly. The two superpowers must not intervene, singly or together, lest accidental nuclear war result, annihilating the world. That was the meaning of the alert. With this message, made publicly by Kissinger that its meaning be not missed, the United States moved in the United Nations. It introduced a resolution for a Mideast patrol made up of nations other than the five permanent powers—the United States, the Soviet Union, China, Britain and France. The Kremlin, having thought about the consequences, voted for the small nation patrol and forbade its troops to intervene. The crisis was over.

BASEBALL TO CONGRESS—The announcement by Representative Thomas S. Gettys, South Carolina Democrat, that he would retire at the close of the 93rd Congress has started a Republican boomlet for Bobby Richardson, 38-year-old former star second baseman for the New York Yankees. Bobby is baseball coach for the University of South Carolina. He would make the transition easily—just as he covered the bag for the Yankees.

SNUBBED U.S. SCIENTISTS — By rejecting the complaint of the National Academy of Science on the treatment of Soviet physicist Andrei J. Sakharov, the Soviet Academy of Science jeopardized scientific cooperation between the two nations. Sakharov is a member of both academies. The Americans have been especially concerned that Sakharov has been deprived of his right to free speech.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Bebe Rebozo and Howard Hughes

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Not long after Bebe Rebozo took a $100,000 cash gift intended for President Nixon from industrialist Howard Hughes, the President's friend joined in a White House plot to link Hughes to the Democrats.

This amazing double-cross is revealed in confidential White House memos, which we have uncovered in the course of investigating Rebozo's role as a money raiser for the President.

The memos show that in January 1971, White House staff chief H. R. Haldeman sought to plant stories in the press tying the eccentric Hughes to Democratic national chairman Larry O'Brien.

This was only a few months after Rebozo had received the last of two $50,000 installments, paid in $100 bills, from a Hughes aide. Yet Rebozo apparently had no hesitation to help expose the financial ties between the phantom billionaire and the Democrats.

AWARE OF DEALINGS

Rebozo was careful to request, however, that he be kept informed "if any action be taken with regard to Hughes" because of "his own dealings with the Hughes people."

Both Haldeman and Dean, therefore, knew of Rebozo's dealings with Hughes, although the memos don't make clear whether they were aware the billionaire had slipped Rebozo $100,000 for the President.

Haldeman decided, nevertheless, to go ahead with the plot even if it meant "embarrassing" Hughes. Haldeman instructed Dean, however, to keep "Bebe out of it at all costs."

Haldeman asked White House counsel John Dean in a memo, dated January 18, 1971, to begin "an inquiry into the relationship between Larry O'Brien and Howard Hughes."

Dean reported back his "preliminary findings" on January 26, 1971. Among others, Dean spoke to Rebozo.

BEBE'S INFORMATION

"I discussed the matter with Bebe Rebozo who indicated that his information regarding (a retainer paid by Hughes to O'Brien) had come from Robert Maheu, the recently released head of Hughes' Nevada operation," reported Dean.

"Bebe said that this information had come to his attention at a time when Maheu was professing considerable friendliness towards the Administration, but that it was not documented information. Bebe indicated that he felt that Maheu had possibly retained O'Brien for his services without any direct knowledge by Hughes himself.

"Bebe is under the impression that Maheu had a good bit of freedom with Hughes' money when running the Nevada operation. Bebe further indicated that he felt he could acquire some documentation of this fact if given a little time and that he would proceed to try to get any information he could.

"He also requested that if any action be taken with regard to Hughes that he be notified because of his familiarity with the delicacy of the relationships as a result of his own dealings with the Hughes people."

'NO DOUBT'

Dean also reported that Robert Bennett, son of Sen. Wallace Bennett, R-Utah, represented Hughes. "Bennett informs me," wrote Dean, "that there is no doubt about the fact that Larry O'Brien was retained by Howard Hughes and the contract is still in existence. . . . Bennett also indicated that he felt confident that if it was necessary to document the retainer with O'Brien that he could get the (documents)."

Two days after receiving Dean's report, Haldeman sent him confidential instructions.

"You should continue to keep in contact with Bob Bennett, as well as looking for other sources of information on this subject," Haldeman directed. "Once Bennett gets back to you with his final report, you and Chuck Colson should get together and come up with a way to leak the appropriate information.

"Frankly, I can't see any way to handle this without involving Hughes. . . . The problem of 'embarrassing' him seems to be a matter of degree. However, we should keep Bob Bennett and Bebe out of it at all costs . . ."

ANDERSON COLUMN

As it happened, we were the recipients of the White House leak. We reported on August 6, 1971, that "Hughes' lieutenants offered to subsidize Larry O'Brien so he could serve without pay as Democratic national chairman during the 1968 campaign."

We quoted O'Brien who acknowledged he had been "sounded out by Maheu in 1968" but insisted he "never drew a dime from the Hughes interests during the campaign." Several months later, we reported, O'Brien was retained by Hughes.

We have spoken to O'Brien again for an updated comment. "If they'd wanted to know about my relationship to Hughes," he said, "They could have looked at the public record. . . . If they didn't want to look at the public record, they could have saved themselves the trouble by simply calling me on the telephone."

O'Brien said his fee was "a personal matter between me and my clients." But in a letter to Maheu, dated August 21, 1968, O'Brien said his "annual fee would be $180,000, payable in monthly installments."

Haldeman told us through his lawyer that he remembers the exchange of memos but doesn't remember the outcome. Dean and Rebozo refused to comment.

Detente Not the Answer

By WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY Jr.

Poor Mr. Nixon is entitled to such satisfaction as he deserves, and the other day at the press conference he was visibly buoyed by the "success" of his negotiations with the Soviet Union. By the vindication of detente. If it had not been — the President said in effect — for my painstaking approaches to the Soviet Union over the past year and a half, who knows what would have happened: a confrontation between American and Russian troops in the Mideast certainly, and, beyond that, perhaps even the dread world war. Presidents who avoid world wars are certainly entitled to public gratitude, roughly in proportion as their ingenuity was responsible for avoiding that war.

I do not wish (here) to disparage Mr. Nixon's maneuverings of last week, merely to ask whether one should leap — as Mr. Nixon would have us do — to the conclusion that detente was the cornerstone of last week's success.

Surely it is reasonable to suppose that the Soviet Union does not desire a world war. At least not for so long as a world war would mean the destruction of the Soviet Union. I cannot imagine a Soviet leader disdaining to pick up the hot line to discuss a looming emergency with the President of the United States, on the grounds that said President had not a) recently travelled to Russia, b) recently offered American wheat for sale, or c) recently agreed to another round of relative U.S. disarmament.

We have faced crises with the Soviet Union before, and at times when the cold war was at its coldest. President Eisenhower landed American troops in Lebanon. A year or two later Khrushchev announced his intention of taking Berlin, and President Eisenhower announced his intention of hanging on to Berlin. Meanwhile, the leaders of the People's Republic of China announced their unswerving determination to seize the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu. President Eisenhower ordered the 7th Fleet to patrol the relevant strait, and, as we all know, Quemoy and Matsu are still there. President Kennedy ordered Khrushchev to take his missiles out of Cuba and stuff them back into the socialist motherland, and Khrushchev did so.

It would not have been pleasing, for aesthetic reasons, if Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy had, after these various crises, called press conferences at which they had said: If it had not been for the tough line taken with the Soviet Union, we'd have stood to lose in the offshore islands . . . in Berlin . . . in Cuba.

Mr. Nixon's contention that the Mideast cease-fire is a bloom of detente is preposterous. It is a pity that the reporters in the room were so anxious to turn the press conference into an examination of Watergate that no one asked the primary question, namely: Why did we come close to a confrontation with the Soviet Union in the Mideast?

Detente started formally in May of 1972, and here we were, October of 1973, and the Soviet Union a) provisions a war in the Mideast, b) threatens to intercede with Soviet military, and c) (this is the report from one news magazine), threatens physically to destroy the State of Israel, to whose independence the United States is formally pledged.

Now it does not surprise one that the Soviet Union was kept from carrying out its threats — we still have an army, and a navy, and an air force. What is surprising, for those who believe in detente, is that the Soviet Union is still making threats. The idea of dente is to stop making threats, to stop relying on force. Where has the Soviet Union shown a disposition to stop relying on force? Certainly not in its internal policies, where force is the routine weapon routinely used against dissenters. Certainly not in its vast empire of satellites, where force is the glue that sticks it all together. Far from vindicating the policy of detente, the events of last week proved that the Soviet Union is continuing to opportunize in behalf of its old imperialistic policies. It is, in a word, more of the same.

The next question to ask the President is: if we project the relative decrease in our military strength over the next five or six years, can you assure us that we would be in a position to stop the Soviet Union in a crisis of this sort?

And if not, what force is Israel going to rely upon, in her next war, to contain a Soviet-backed effort to destroy her?

Surely the Senate Foreign Relations Committee should, at this point, call in representatives of the chiefs of staff, and ask them the question: if the Soviet Union had called our bluff, what would we have done about it? It may be that as the situation gets hotter, President Nixon gets cooler. But all the while, the United States gets weaker.

BERRY'S WORLD

"How do I know you weren't sent here to distract our attention from the talk of impeachment proceedings?"

Washington Calling

Three Weeks of Haggling and Acrimony

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — George Meany of the AFL-CIO, a bull who carries his own china shop with him, has been huffing and puffing at President Nixon whom he helped, if only in a negative way, to be re-elected in 1972. In his latest blast he said the President was in a fragile mental state so overwhelmed by the cares of his office as to be on the verge of a breakdown.

Such a reckless statement by a public figure is a profound disservice. In the opinion of this observer Mr. Nixon intends to stay in office for the duration of his second term and, therefore, anything that further cripples him can only add to the plague of doubt and uncertainty hanging over this capital.

I say this hesitantly, since I was wrong about Spiro Agnew. I wrote that the Vice President would tough it out, since that was the opinion early in the Department of Justice. Agnew was, of course, privately bargaining to avoid a jail sentence under a five-count indictment.

Short of some new disclosure of wrongdoing in his Administration dwarfing what has already come to light, the President will not be impeached. Congress doesn't have the heart for it. In his speech to the AFL-CIO convention in Miami Beach Sen. Hubert Humphrey talked common sense, pointing out the hazards in the impeachment process. This was in contrast to other orators who got cheers and applause by calling for Nixon's scalp.

Short of an accident, the only other way out is by resignation. No one close to the President believes he will be the first Chief Executive to step out.

There is, however, a Rubicon the President will cross at his own great risk. That is to insist that the prosecution of all the charges left hanging by the firing of Archibald Cox be kept in the Justice Department and, therefore, remain a subordinate part of the Administration. No amount of rhetoric about independence will make such an arrangement credible.

Opinion in Congress is overwhelmingly in favor of an independent prosecutor created by act of Congress with appointment by Judge John J. Sirica and responsible to the grand jury. To oppose that sentiment will be to give a new upsurge to impeachment, which was damped down by the decision on the tapes.

A monstrous undertaking awaits the special prosecutor It alone will require weeks of diligent effort to ready a case for presentation to a grand jury. One memorandum appears to involve the President directly in calling off the antitrust bloodhounds and allowing a giant conglomerate merger.

Each day brings new reports of strange financial finagling. The President's close friend, Bebe Rebozo, and the $100,000 in cash from Howard Hughes in Rebozo's safety-deposit box and more recently the million-dollar stock portfolio, including allegedly stolen securities, are two glaring examples. All this touching an intimate Nixon friend deserves the closest investigation, and if the inquiry warrants it to be followed by prosecution.

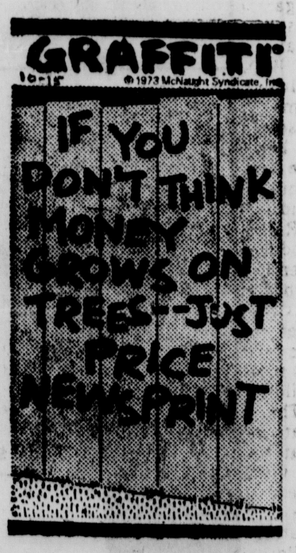

Cox had only begun to take up the cases involving illegal campaign contributions by corporations and corporation executives. A start has been made in this area, but many more cases require preparation and ultimate action.

Hardly halfway through when he was fired, Cox had done a splendid job. He was hitting close to the man in the White House and his best friends. To find a successor will not be easy. But a guarantee of independence in an act of Congress will help.

Nixon's press conference remarks hardened the opposition in Congress to a prosecutor appointed by a President. This can become still another confrontation when that is the last thing the embattled President needs. While a new prosecutor does not require a Senate confirmation, a new Attorney General does. In a confirmation hearing the conflict would come into sharp focus.

What the President does not seem to understand is that an independent prosecutor's findings would be accepted by the public. If, as he so angrily declared, his friend Rebozo has been unjustly accused of financial finagling, there could be no surer warrant of his innocence than a declaration coming from an independent inquiry. The President could hardly argue that the charges simply be ignored.

If he is not to resign and is unlikely to be impeached, he must reach some accommodation with the opposing forces. Failing that, we are in for three weeks of haggling and acrimony

Paltz College Radio Station... Mixed Bag of Music, Personality

By JON POWERS

NEW PALTZ

Sixty college students with disparate tastes and backgrounds are dispensing a mixed bag of music and personality through Ulster County's newest concept in radio — WNPC-AM and FM at the State University College at New Paltz.

With an unpredictable mixture of enthusiasm and the unexpected — and certainly without the stifling professionalism that marks major big city markets — WNPC has already captured the attention and imagination of at least a segment of the New Paltz listening audience. But the station's programmers are now courting an even more representative sampling of the New Paltz community.

WNPC, which is staffed and managed entirely by the students at the New Paltz college, embarked this September on a relatively new concept in radio broadcasting: a marriage, in essence, with Cable TV. The change, students admit, has both advantages and disadvantages.

Under the new system, the station's signal is transmitted via telephone line to the New Paltz Telecable tower on Mohonk Mountain; from there, it is transmitted through the television cable to every home in the New Paltz area. The signal is broadcast through FM receivers at 91.9 megahurtz.

Unlike traditional FM stations, WNPC's signal isn't transmitted by airwaves. As a result, it has been spared the expense of installing and operating its own antenna and transmitter, and it isn't required to obtain a license from the Federal Communications Commission.

On the other hand, WNPC-FM can only be heard in homes serviced by New Paltz Cablevision; it can't be picked up in cars or on the street, so its audience remains essentially static and certainly limited.

The programs broadcast over WNPC-FM are heard simultaneously over WNPC-AM. But the AM signals are transmitted directly from the radio station to individual transmitters in each of the buildings on campus, and can only be picked up in those buildings.

Apart from the technological changes at WNPC, the station undergoes a continuous transition in personnel and programming. But at the heart of the station's philosophy is a determination to provide an informal and varied selection of music, news and commentary.

As might be expected, the station leans heavily to popular folk-rock and jazz-rock artists. But at any given hour, listeners are likely to hear selections in the blues, classical, acid-rock or easy-listening vein. The disc jockeys select their own music, so the fare is as varied and individual as the tastes and personalities of the students themselves.

It is in the area of news and special events, however, that WNPC's student managers take particular pride. The station presents a full half-hour of news every evening, followed immediately by a half-hour discussion show with personalities or newsmakers from the surrounding community. WNPC is also serviced by United Press International, providing students with capsulized reports on state, national and international happenings.

WNPC also has the capacity to broadcast (live or taped) special lectures or events on campus. It plans to broadcast home and away games of the college's basketball team, and may do the same this Spring for home baseball games.

Its daily news programs aside, WNPC has another important role it can play in the community. According to Jeffrey Ebner, the general manager, WNPC was the only source of up-to-the-minute information during last year's power blackout. And it occupied much the same role during the student strikes of years previous.

Special

"In a crises situation," said Ebner, "the station serves an invaluable purpose. That's when people realize we're here, and realize that we have something important to offer this campus."

WNPC is now housed in studios in the new student union building; its broadcasting complex, record library and modern equipment the envy of many larger commercial stations.

Despite its recent growth and many accomplishments, WNPC has remained essentially pure in the quick-buck, prime-time world of profit-conscious commercial radio. The station does sell some advertisements, but a vast majority of its income is ladeled out by the Faculty-Student Association. The jocks, newsmen and engineers apparently work for enjoyment and experience, rather than profit, because they don't get a penny for their labors.

That might be the secret to WNPC's success. And judging from the talented array of newsmen and music personalities, it may prove to be the training ground for some important names in the media in years to come.

MUSIC AND NEWS ORIGINATE FROM WNPC's MASTER CONTROL.

Robison Backs Bill On Energy

WASHINGTON, D.C.

27th District Republican Congressman Howard W. Robison, has backed legislation to begin a crash program in the development of practical uses for solar energy.

The new proposal calls for a Federal agency task force, led by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, to undertake a $50 million program to develop commercial and home uses for solar heat.

Robison noted that the measure is the first move by Congress to involve the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in energy research and development. According to the Tioga Congressman, NASA possesses some of the best organized and best managed research programs in the Federal government.

"With its proven ability to solve the highly technical problems of the space program, the research team at NASA waits to be tapped to solve a few of the energy problems which remain here on earth," Robison said.

Robison said he jointly introduced the new bill with all members of the House Energy Subcommittee. "The sponsors of this bill are convinced that solar heat can be put to immediate use for both heating and cooling homes and commercial buildings," Robison commented.

The nine-term legislator said that the proposal would require that NASA, in cooperation with several other government agencies, develop and oversee the production of 2,000 solar heating units for commercial buildings, and 2,000 solar heating and cooling units for family dwellings.

Ulster Lawmakers Propose Buying U-D Branch Line

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON — Five Ulster County Legislators today proposed that Ulster County acquire the Ulster-Delaware branch of the Penn-Central Railroad "for a nominal amount" and lease it to the Catskill Mountain Transportation Corporation "upon condition that it be maintained and operated."

Republican legislators Ralph C. Brach, Ernest J. Gardner, Philip Davis, S. Robert Kelder and Lewis Hall point out that the Penn Central Railroad is in bankruptcy and has petitioned for permission to discontinue service on the Ulster-Delaware Branch also known as the Catskill Mountain Branch. The Interstate Commerce Commission made an interim ruling in June in favor of abandonment of the line.

The legislator feel continued operation of the branch will greatly benefit residents of the county and note that the Catskill Mountain Transportation Corporation has been formed for the purpose of acquiring, rehabilitating and operating the line.

They suggest that if continued operation of the branch is found to be impractical the county "should acquire the right-of-way for a strip park through the Catskill Mountains."

They also point out that the State Department of Transportation has first preference for the acquisition of such abandoned rights-of-way and counties, towns and villages have preferential acquisition after that.

The proposers of the plan will ask the Ulster County Legislature, at its Nov. 8 meeting to inform the state of Ulster County's interest in acquiring the branch.

Other action before the Legislature calls for a recommendation for a new tax table for senior citizen exemptions, approving bids for renovation of the Ulster County Court House and setting the date of Tuesday, Nov. 20 for a public hearing on the tentative 1974 county budget.

The county board will also seek to stop the New York City Department of Water Supply and Gas and Electricity from discharging polluted water into the Esopus Ceek claiming it is causing a decline in trout and other forms of aquatic life.

Action will also be taken on suggested Family Court reform, adding personnel to the laundry staff at the new jail and a proposal that the county's tentative budget be made available in late October instead of November in the future.

Two Enter Guilty Plea

KINGSTON — Two of three men arrested Sept. 21 by Kingston Police on felony drug charges after an alleged 3½ pounds of marijuana was found during a raid pleaded guilty in City Court Tuesday to reduced charges.

William Richard Small, 23, of 2-8 Walnut Street, and Stanley Terwilliger, 27, of 69½ Pine Street entered guilty pleas to charges of seventh degree possession of a controlled substance before Special City Judge George A. Beck following a preliminary hearing.

Their cases were adjourned until Nov. 29 for sentencing.

Harry Small, 21, of 2-8 Walnut Street, the third man arrested in the raid, had the case against him adjourned for six months in comtemplation of dismissal following the preliminary hearing.

All three men had originally been charged with criminal possession of a controlled substance in the fifth degree and using drug paraphernalia in the second degree following the raid in which what police said was the largest amount of alleged marijuana ever seized in Kingston was confiscated.

Detectives Investigating Robberies

KINGSTON — Kingston detectives are investigating two robberies reported Wednesday — one in which one of two reported victims has not yet been located by police, and the second in which a gas station owner was bound and gagged by two black youths.

In the first case, Detectives said James D. Beechel of 362 Broadway told them he was walking along Jansen Avenue at about 8:30 p. m. Wednesday with a companion identified as Carl Ross (no address available) when a car pulled up beside them and two black youths jumped out. Detectives said Beechel told them he and Ross were forced into the car and were driven to the vicinity of the New York State Armory, where $85 was taken from him, and he was told to get out of the car. Beechel said Ross was kept in the car which drove off, according to detectives, and authorities are attempting to locote him (Ross).

At about 2:15 p. m. Wednesday, detectives said Reuben Hendricks of 599 Abell Street, owner of Reub's Service Station, was robbed of some $240 in cash by two black youths. Hendricks said the youths had asked him for a glass of water, detectives said, and followed him into his house where they bound and gagged him and made off with the money.

Hendricks was able to walk, and went onto the street where a passerby stopped and summoned police.

Investigation is continuing in both cases.

Detectives said the second floor apartment of Mrs. Helen Curtis was reported entered Wednesday during the day and approximately $70 in cash was reported taken. Approximately $1.70 in cash was reported taken from an apartment of Mrs. Lessie Wallace Tuesday.

State Police Identify Victim

CATSKILL

State police have identified the body of a man found shot to death in gangland style near Catskill on Monday as that of Giacomo Spada, 39, a man reportedly sought since April in New York City on federal drug charges.

According to reports, Spada was a heroin distributor for Herbert Sperling, recently sentenced to a life prison term on a narcotics conviction.

Police revealed that Spada's hands had been severed at the wrists. He was shot in the back of the head and in the chest.

A Central Hudson Gas and Electric worker discovered the body Monday about 20 feet off Route 23A in the Town of Catskill. Police said he had been dead about 24 hours.

Police believe Spada was killed elsewhere, and his dismembered body dumped near Route 23A, about three-quarters of a mile from the Thruway.

Spada had reportedly been indicted along with 86 other persons allegedly involved with the drug traffic in April. He was again indicted in October on drug charges along with 29 other including a Mafia family head. He had avoided capture, however.

Leeds State Police said Spada, believed to be of New York City, was identified by relatives.

Senior Dinner Plans Underway

Alexander Yosman, Coordinator of the Senior Citizens' Advisory Council, announced today that plans are moving ahead for the Annual Thanksgiving Dinner for Senior Citizens scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 17. This is the sixth year for the dinner which is sponsored by the Ulster Kiwanis Club, Salvation Army and the Senior Citizens' Advisory Council.

For the first time, this yearly dinner will be held at the new Salvation Army Citadel, 35 Cedar Street, Kingston. With facilities available at the new building, it will be possible to serve approximately 200 guests at a sitting. In addition, a new innovation is being planned in the form of entertainment.

As in the past, the dinner, which will include turkey and all the trimmings, will be served from 12 noon until all are served.

Yosman indicated that further information, including reservation procedure, will be forthcoming.

Stamp Course Set Saturday

A Stamp Course sponsored by the Stamptrotters Society of Kingston will be held 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 3 at Howard Johnson Motel Saugerties.

A special souvenir cover honoring restoration of The Little Sawyer Grist Mill Circa 1720 will be available at the Stamp Bourse. Covers are available by mail from George Putland, PO Box 116, Saugerties, 12477.

There will be 10 dealers to serve beginners and advanced collectors. United Staes, world stamps and covers plus all philatelic accessories will be displayed.

BUILDERS UNION ENDORSES — The Building and Construction Trades Council has endorsed the candidacy of Mayor Francis R. Koenig (L) and Alderman-at-Large T. Robert Gallo (R). The pair are shown with Julius Lamenec, council president, which represents more than 18,000 workers in Ulster, Sullivan, Delaware and Green Counties. Koenig and Gallo were cited in their efforts to further construction in the city, particularly in the urban renewal areas, thus providing jobs for workers in the building trades field. Fabbie Cites GOP Campaign

KINGSTON — Republican Chairman Frank Fabbie has issued a statement on the 1973 election campaign in which he declared that the City Republican Party has conducted "an informative type campaign."

"As this election campaign approaches its climax," Fabbie said, "it becomes exceedingly difficult to separate fact from fiction. We have tried to inform the public, correct misstatements, clear up innuendoes and rebut distortions offered by our opponents."

"By contrast," Fabbie said, "we felt it our duty to point out to the public that the City of Kingston shows all the symptoms of inefficient and ineffectual government.

"Several people were removed from the City Treasurer's Office, because of shortages," Fabbie continued, "and our tax rate remains high despite increases in state aid, the two per cent city sales tax and nearly $1 million of additional monies in Federal Revenue Sharing funds, the latter with no strings attached. In the face of this increased revenue, we are borrowing money by issuing bonds, thereby placing a heavier burden on our property owners.

"The programs the incumbent mayor would have you believe he sponsored," Fabbie said, "were planned long before he became mayor, such as the new firehouse downtown, the new streets in the uptown urban renewal area and the entire uptown UR project. These programs were brought about by the foresight of the previous Republican Administration at City Hall. This is documented in the programs of the John Schwenk Administration."

"The new secondary sewage treatment plant, the incumbent team is taking credit for was forced on them by Albany when it was discovered that raw sewage was permitted to run into the Rondout Creek. This was another crisis solved at the very last moment."

Fabbie continued, "that through positive programs which will benefit the city, the election of Bill Merrill as mayor will bring relief to our taxpayers, improve our city services, create an atmoshpere of progress and opportunity that will attract greater interest in our city".

"This year, more than ever before, we have the right caliber of men on the Republican ticket who can straighten out 'the mess in City Hall,'" Fabbie declared. "We have advised the taxpayer what is wrong and how we, if elected, can correct it by good sound judgment and planning ahead."

Fabbie advised the voters to sift the facts that have been brought out and in fairness to themselves make the right decision on Election Day. "As chairman of the City Republican Committee, I urge all citizens to fulfill their obligation by voting Tuesday, Nov. 6," he concluded.

Call for Defeat of Reapport

KINGSTON — The Ulster County Conservative Party, contending that the proposed county reapportionment plan would "perpetuate the reign of a chosen few," has called for its defeat at the polls next Tuesday.

In a statement explaining the party's position on the issue, William Jackson, party chairman, said, "The Conservative Party joins other organizations and individuals in rejecting the reapportionment plan since its primary goal is the perpetuation of the reign of a chosen few, primarily, the Tsar of Ulster County (an apparent reference to County Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago of New Paltz) and to weed out those who they think are undesirables. The Conservative Party believes that no group of officials, elected to serve the county, should use the trust of the voters in such a blatant manner."

Terming the proposed plan "gerrymandering at its worse," Jackson said, "The excessively large district designed to keep one man in power will make it increasingly difficult for an independent or a candidate of a prty other than the one in power to be elected to the County Legislature. It might legally comply with the (Supreme) Court ruling (of one man-one vote) but it does not constitute a reasonable approach to the problem."

Jackson, speaking of the possible added expense to the taxpayers if the plan is defeated and has to be offered at a special referendum (a cost estimated at $70,000), said, "You hear the argument it will cost money if the plan is defeated. The planners should have thought of this possibility beforehand and should have taken the necessary steps to obtain the voters' approval last spring or do those in power feel they can obtain a 'yes' vote no matter how absurd their proposition?"

"The Conservative Party supports the redistricting of the county to the smallest districts wherever possible, including districts within the city," Jackson concluded in urging the defeat of the present proposal.

Liberals Score Transport Bond

KINGSTON — The Ulster County Liberal Party is recommending the defeat of the $3.5 billion transportaion bond issue, party chairman Donald I. Short announced today.

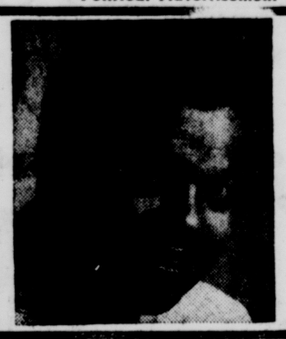

"Exceptions to the bond issue ranged from citing underhanded methods of applying pressure for its passage to its inability to provide all the benefits that area residents have been led to believe it will produce," Short said.

"Other reasons mentioned include: it does not provide enough monies for mass transportation, there is no fair way to distribute funds to communities and that matching federal funds might not be forthcoming." Short noted that the State Liberal Party has given its conditional approval to the bond issue, but nonetheless urges county residents to vote against it.

Short said the county party approved several amendments to the constitution on the ballot this year including exclusion of debt for sewage projects, waiver of grand jury indictments, improvement of employment opportunities, chairmanship of the state commission of corrections, family court custody of minors and discontuance of the county court of Nassau.

The county committee rejected amendments concerning jurisdiction of district courts (on Long Island), forest preserve lands outside the Adirondacks and Catskill Parks, erection of counties and increasing the age whereby judges can serve without mandatory retirement.

307 WALL ST. UPTOWN, KINGSTON

FAST LOANS FOR THE COMPANY PRESIDENT OR THE SECRETARIES.

Listen, we live here in town. A young, single secretary who lives here comes in and tells us she has a smashing deal on a charter to London; she needs the money right away, and she promises to pay it back; will we say no?

Hardly ever.

In fact, she can come in to Chase Manhattan for an instalment loan, and our loan officer will love it. It makes his day, and it could make her year.

There's another way to get money from Chase. Suppose you spot a great buy on a dress. Payday is four days away; you're flat. Well, just show us your BankAmericard®. No fancy paperwork, and it takes just three minutes. (If you don't have a card, you can get one from Chase. No charge.)

Each Chase borrowing system is the right one at different times, for different reasons. They all help you do one thing: manage your money. Sometimes called budgeting by nonbankers. Borrowing money to buy something now when you'll have the money later is part of managing money. Business works that way; there's no reason you can't.

And no bank has more money managing conveniences than Chase.

Borrowing can be a very heavy subject, but it doesn't have to be a hassle—not for secretaries, not for bricklayers, not for dentists, not for the company president, not for anybody who banks at Chase.

Whatever you do for a living, you have a friend at

MILESTONE FOR EPSTEIN — City Democratic Chairman Lawrence E. Woerner presents a plaque from the City Committee to Joseph and Ida Epstein in honoring Epstein for 50 years as an enrolled Democrat. Epstein enrolled as a Democrat on his 21st birthday, Nov. 2, 1923. He is a former alderman from the old Sixth Ward and a former commissioner with the Ulster County Board of Elections. Court Probe Is Discussed

KINGSTON — In answer to statements made by Republican candidates for the County Legislature from Dist. 2 at a recent press conference, in which a state probe of the Family Court system was called for, William C. Mullany, Democratic candidate for Family Court Judge, today suggested that the legislator who called for the probe look into the situation in Ulster County.

"I'm glad to see some attention being given to Family Court," Mullany said. "I've been out talking to the people all over the county and I find a recurring theme, particularly from educators, correction officers and social workers: What is wrong with Family Court?"

"But I must say in all candor that I was amused by the fact that one of our county legislators found it necessary to look into the matter," Mullany continued.

"I would suggest that the legislator (Lester C. Elmendorf, R.-Dist. 2) look into his own county," Mullany said. "If there is dissatisfaction with the handling of juveniles it might be instructive for him to know that the responsibility for prosecuting the cases such as he described rests with the County Attorney."

"I would suggest that he ask the incumbent Family Court Judge whether adequate cooperation is received from the County Attorney's office in the handling of juvenile prosecution," Mullany said, adding, "The Family Court places the responsibility on that public official."

"I was also amused by the fact that a junior high school principal (Stephen G. Hyatt, legislative candidate from Dist. 2) joined this particular legislator in a joint news conference on this subject," Mullany continued.

"I would suggest he exercise a little leadership and look into the matter. He might start by asking his teachers what they think when they are told that the problem of the unruly juvenile is their problem," Mullany said.

"Gentlemen, it's late in the day, but I must give you credit for being the first Republicans to focus attention on what in my opinion is the most important particular office to be filled next week," Mullany said.

"I believe it vital that the people have a choice and that they understand the importance of that office," Mullany concluded.

Close Liaison Is Proposed

RHINEBECK — Leslie Close, Republican candidate for county legislator from District XXXI, believes that a close liaison with constituent towns is an important seeking.

He commented, "I believe my function can really be viewed as two-phased: one, being an active representative for my constituents in the County Legislature and, two, being a liaison between the legislature and the three town boards, Hyde Park, Rhinebeck, and Red Hook, which are within the district."

Close stated that he expected to attend at least one town board meeting per month in the three towns in the new district in order to report on "items of mutual interest." And he planned to announce his visits in advance in order to promote maximum citizen participation.

Issues in common, he said, include air pollution control, solid waste removal, road maintenance and improvement and the direction of the district's future growth.

Close said that the most important attributes for a county legislator to have are "availability and responsiveness," and he offered both to the district.

Methods Are Under Attack

KINGSTON — Ben Schecter, vice chairman of the Kingston city Republican Committee, today lashed out at campaign methods of the Democrats.

"Why is it each time the mayor and his decision-makers campaign it is within the last two weeks before election?" Schecter asked. "How long do the voters have to stand for this hogwash?" Schecter said the voter "should be aware of this type of campaign and should look at it with shame and disgust."

Urging support for William Merrill for mayor and Burt Ellis for alderman-at-large, Schecter said, "For the first time in many years the Republican Party has put up a candidate for mayor who is not only responsive but alert to the needs of all the citizens."

TV Show

Town of New Paltz Democratic candidates will appear on local television, Channel 12, Sunday at 7 p.m. to answer questions and discuss their views. According to the Democrats, the Republicans have refused an invitation to appear on the program.

New Paltz Candidate Proposes:

Town Forums, Strengthened Board, Lower Taxes

NEW PALTZ — Anita Taylor, Republican-Conservative candidate for a seat on the New Paltz Town Board, has announced proposals for monthly town forums, a strengthened Board of Ethics, and the lowering of taxes.

According to Mrs. Taylor, she initiated a Neighborhood Forum program five weeks ago to speak to town residents in various neighborhoods, and has found the response "overwhelming."

"In the Neighborhood Forums," she said, "it has become apparent that thoughtful citizens have many good ideas that can improve our community."

What she is proposing is that a town forum be held monthly in the Town Hall so that residents can "offer ideas and suggestions to improve our community." Mrs. Taylor said the town board would attend, but not in a decision-making capacity. The present town board meetings would remain as business sessions.

"I see the New Paltz Town Forum as an old fashioned town meeting — reminiscent of the New England town meetings that helped shape the destiny of our early colonies," she said.

Regarding the Board of Ethics, Mrs. Taylor proposes a "Watchdog Law" to strengthen it.

"To safeguard the interests of the taxpayers and to increase public confidence in their legislators," she said, "I propose that the New Paltz Board of Ethics be given more muscle."

To give it more muscle, Mrs. Taylor proposes that all town board minutes be sent to the ethics board for review and comment: that an ethics board member attend all town board meetings and any item he questions not be acted on until the full Board of Ethics has reviewed it; that the town board representative on the Board of Ethics be required to pass along to the ethics board any specific complaints or questions raised by any private individual; that town officials inform the ethics board of their New Paltz holdings and seek the ethics board's counsel before voting on any measure which might mean a conflict of interests; and that the chairmanship of the ethics board be changed annually, and that each year two members of that board be replaced, to prevent domination by a particular "in group."

"There's no reason why New Paltz taxes can't be lowered," Mrs. Taylor said.

To do this, she proposes that increased cooperation be secured with the State University College at New Paltz, and efforts be made on a state-wide basis for tax relief for communities like New Paltz with a large tax-free complex in their midst.

She also proposes that "wasteful duplication" of town and village services be eliminated. She called for consolidation of town and village police and highway departments and planning boards. Mrs. Taylor also wants capital improvements to be constructed with town machinery whenever possible, and endorses the proposal that an auditor examine all vouchers and disbursements.

Dem Hopeful Summarizes Position

NEW PALTZ — John Vett, Democratic candidate for New Paltz Town Councilman, has issued a statement "to summarize his position for the voters as clearly as possible."

During the campaign, Vett said, he has tried to address himself to the issues both parties seem to have agreed upon, taxes, growth and traffic.

Pointing out that the Republicans have controlled New Paltz town government for almost 30 years, Vett said, "Let me say at the outset that regardless of what our opponents say about these problems, their party is responsible for what we have at present."

He said taxes have been rising despite a broadened tax base, and the traffic problems have grown worse, ". . . and show no signs of being substantially alleviated for years to come."

He also said the Republicans have adopted the planned unit development and variable density residential zoning sections which could "completely ruin" New Paltz if allowed to stand.

He proposes consolidation of town and village services to see if some tax savings could result. Proposed by Vett for study for consolidation are the two highway and police departments, office equipment, and a planning consultant and comptroller or professional money manager.

"These are only some examples of the areas which should be studied seriously with a view to reducing costs," Vett said.

Vett said traffic and growth go together. "Since almost everyone is generally agreed that traffic congestion in New Paltz is well nigh intolerable at times," said Vett, "we must take steps to curtail the traffic generators so we do not further worsen a bad situation." He proposes a moratorium "for a short time" on all development but the building of single family homes, so that the problem of growth might be studied.

He said pressure must be brought against the State Department of Transportation to provide some relief for New Paltz. Until state help comes, Vett said, the town must explore the possibility of one-way streets and alternate routes "to move traffic through and around the village."

"If elected," said Vett, "my pledge is to work with all people in the town and village in a creative way to solve the problems we face in a dynamic society."

WOODSTOCK — County Legislator William West (R-Dist. 12) and Republican George Kirk, who both seek election Nov. 6 in the new Dist. 4 (Woodstock, Shandaken, Denning and Hardenburgh), said today they have both demonstrated involvement in their own communities.

Together, they said, they "intend to bring the same experience and sense of commitment to the new communities who join the district they hope to represent.

Each praised the other for being responsive not only to their own community but to each other, saying that they work well together and have jointly solved a number of problems in the area.

WONDERFUL WORLD OF FASHION

Jimmy Benson is about to learn a lesson in competitive distribution.

Lessons every businessman has to learn. Lessons taught to him by the consumer.

Jimmy is vulnerable to the consumer the moment he decides to go into business. Does he have the right product? The right quality? The right price? The right location? He'll soon find out. The consumer will tell him. And he'd better listen, if he wants to stay in business and become an asset to the community.

That's what being in business is all about—responding to the consumer. Meeting people's constantly changing needs.

As independent businessmen, we believe in competitive distribution. The retail automobile business is built on it. So is every business advertised in this newspaper. And because of competition, you'll never be forced to buy one brand, at one price, from one store. Competition gives you a choice. The result is greater variety, better quality, better service. And, would you believe, even lower prices?

You call the shots. You, the consumer. We wouldn't have it any other way. After all, we're consumers, too.

Informed Public Is Termed 'Important'

SAUGERTIES — David Menzies, Democratic candidate for county legislator, says: "It is unfortunate that the legislative race is viewed as a personality contest, where the four most personable of eight candidates are elected on that basis alone. It will come as a surprise to many of the voters of Saugerties that there are issues in this election."

Menzies said he thought voters should be concerned with three important issues, domination of the County Legislature by one man, reapportionment, and the fiscal practices of the County Treasurer's office.

"The complaint I most frequently hear is that government is remote and unresponsive," Menzies said. "Just how remote and unresponsive government will be is directly proportional to how well the public is informed. Unfortunately, in Ulster County the chairman of the Legislature has gone to great lengths to keep the people in the dark."

Menzies questioned whether the best interests of the public can be served if the Republican incumbents from Saugerties are subservient to the chairman of the legislature.

"The record speaks for itself," he said. "They voted along with the Republican majority to vote down a resolution to study how much in county funds was being held This is a vote against the in non-interest bearing ac- public's right to know." counts, and in what banks these Menzies also said they voted funds are located. The last state for a reapportionment plan that audit shows that abuse of this creates a district of 30,000 "that practice has already cost the just happens to be the chair- taxpayer $63,950 in lost revenue. man's district."

Candidates for town offices include Michael DiBenedetto, supervisor; Daniel O'Connor, superintendent of highways; Fred Banta, councilman; Joseph Luma and Charles Williams, assessors; and John Terwilliger and Frank Esper, Town Justices.

WHITA Directors Oppose 10 State Amendments

KINGSTON — The board of directors of WHITA (We've Had It Taxpayers Association) is opposed to all ten amendments to the state constitution on the ballot this year, Mrs. Alice Tipp, WHITA president announced Wednesday.

Previously, WHITA has expressed its opposition to the Transportation Bond Issue.

"WHITA's board feels certain that if the public itself makes a microscopic inspection of the seemingly more desirable proposals it will find them to be either lacking in long-term fiscal responsibility or sadly short of needed public safeguards," Mrs. Tipp said. "With those weaknesses, WHITA could hardly become a party to or a party of such outright deception of the public trust."

ATTENTION!

TOWN OF ULSTER SEWER DISTRICT HOMEOWNERS & VOTERS

In November, 1967, the Town Board, Town of Ulster, published a legal notice in the Kingston Freeman setting a date for a public hearing on the establishment of a sewerage disposal district. The method chosen to finance installation of the equipment required was based on Section 12A of the Town Law, and was to be on a FRONT-FOOTAGE AND ASSESSMENT formula which is the method most widely used throughout New York State.

A public hearing was held on November 13, 1967. At that meeting the sewer district was represented by its current attorney. The Town Board stated that the front-footage assessment method was illegal and that it had to come up with a new plan. The claim was that the New York State Department of Audit and Control advised them that the previous plan was illegal. (A search of the Town records failed to produce a letter of this nature from the State Department of Audit and Control.)

We do have a letter in our possession, however, advising that the State did not receive an application for the establishment of a sewerage district using the front-footage method.

The above method, to the best of our knowledge, was never declared illegal by the United States Supreme Court. Then, in 1968, the Town Board did set up a sewer district using the straight ASSESSMENT formula. As a result, I think it is all too clear that the homeowner is being exploited. Here are a few examples, taken at random, from the tax rolls in the Town Clerk's office.

Acreage	Assessment	Est. Sewer Tax	Owner Pays Yearly
11.0	$1,000	$45/$1,000	$ 45
12.5	2,500	$45/$1,000	113
100.0	9,000	$45/$1,000	405

. . . with the homeowner on ¼ acre of property with an assessment of $2,000 paying $90 per year.

Translating the above figures into average residence size plots of ¼ acre we arrive at the following:

	Assessed Value of ¼ Acre
Mr. Homeowner	$200.00
Mr. Landowner owning 100 acres	22.50
Mr. Landowner owning 11 acres	22.73
Mr. Landowner owning 12.5 acres	50.00
Mr. Landowner owning 49.0 acres	6.10

This will go on for 40 years unless checked by the townspeople. Vacant land in the district is currently worth $5,000-10,000 an acre in bulk. Only within the past year a tract of land—80 acres—was sold for approximately $500,000.

Remember that IBM would still pay approximately 50% of the cost of the sewerage system and the homeowners' taxes would be reduced substantially by the FRONT-FOOTAGE ASSESSMENT method. A map, on display at the Town Offices, shows approximately 60-70% of the 2,500 acres in the sewer district is vacant.

Compare to the random selections shown above, the following is a selection of one of the vacant parcels:

Acreage	Assessment	Est. Sewer Tax	Owner Pays Yearly
49	$1,200	$45/$1,000	$54

As far as we can determine the Town Board did not inform the people until 1970 that the State of New York would not grant an easement for the laying of pipe under Route 9W and Albany Avenue Extension. Only east to west crossing are allowed. Consequently, pipe has been laid on both sides of the road and costs charged to all homeowners using the assessment method.

The attorney for the sewer district is receiving in legal fees one (1) per cent of the bonds to be sold or approximately $50,000! Why is he not capable of representing the District in court action against Site-Con Corp. (the contractors who walked off the job earlier this year)? This means that the homeowner must pay a disportionate part of the cost to an Albany law firm to fight the case in court, as well, to the best of our knowledge, pay another attorney to represent the Town in condemnation proceedings.

The Town Board did not, during the period of rapidly rising construction costs, consult the people of the sewer district before letting contruction contracts in 1970 and 1971. When work was partially completed in 1972, the Town Board presented the people with a Hobson's choice: Let the pipes rot in the ground or give us more money!

At an informational meeting held August 1973, the Town Board admitted that quanities of pipe and joints had been stolen. The excuse for this was inadequate police protection.

At various "meet the candidates" meetings held during the past few weeks, the Town Board would not commit themselves as to when the project will be completed or when they will receive the money required.

Why does the Town of Ulster have to sue Site-Con Corp. as contractor put up a performance bond? We say that is the insurance company's responsibility!

We demand that the Town Board of the Town of Ulster consult with the Democratic Party and hire an expert to apportion the cost of the sewer system equitably over all benefitted real property in the district, using the front-footage assessment formula or any formula that is equitable.

Trimester—More Chefs

HYDE PARK — The adoption of a year-round trimester system has helped reduce a chronic backlog of applications at The Culinary Institute of America, according to institute President Jacob Rosenthal.

The CIA, located in Hyde Park since a move from New Haven, Conn. more than a year ago, is the world's largest school of culinary training.

"Our primary purpose in instituting the trimester program was to make more efficient use of the facilities at our new campus in Hyde Park," said Rosenthal, "but another benefit is that we can now accept first term students in any of the three terms conducted during the year, starting in June, September and January."

This increases the total enrollment capacity while reducing the waiting time for incoming students.

The CIA has been recently notified of a $150,000 grant from the New York State Bundy Aid program to be applied toward the interest on the bond issue to raise state funds to build dormitories.

Three new dormitories are expected to be ready for student occupation by September, 1974.

Said Rosenthal, "The fine reputation enjoyed by the Institute and the demands of industry for our graduates have done us only one disservice in recent years — the institute has been branded a tough-to-crack operation with a lengthy waiting list.

"With our new program we hope to dispel this generally-accepted feeling and to assure all young men and women who are interested in culinary training that our enrollment is definitely open, and flexible as well," he stated.

Dutchess Future Is Conference Theme

POUGHKEEPSIE — The Second Conference on the Future of Dutchess County will be open to everyone Nov. 10 at the Dutchess Community College.

The first conference, held last autumn with presentation by the Regional Plan Association, was attended by hundreds of area government and civic representatives.

Co-chairmen of the Saturday conference this year are County Executive William Bartles and McCann Foundation President John J. Gartland Jr.

The schedule calls for coffee and registration at 9 a.m. at Falcon Hall, the DCC gym, with the opening remarks by Bartles slated for 9:45 a.m. Gartland and Dr. John Connolly, DCC president, as well as George Reid, chairman of the county board of representatives, will address the gathering at that time.

A 10 a.m. narrated slide presentation of how Dutchess County is changing from rural to urban is scheduled, entitled "Dutchess From the Inside."

And, at 11:15 a.m., "Perspectives From the Outside" will be addressed through a panel discussion of knowledgeable planners. They are: C. David Loeks, president of Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress, moderator; William R. Ginsberg, General Counsel and Director of Research, New York State Commission on the Powers of Local Government; Peter Eschweiler, Commissioner of Westchester County Department of Planning; and Jack Keough, Coordinator of Boards and Commissions, Town of Ramapo, Rockland County.

Questions will be countenanced at 12:15 p.m. and a round table discussion has been set following lunch, with 2:30 p.m. adjournment planned.

Veterans Aided by Outreach Plan

POUGHKEEPSIE — Work-study allocations from the U.S. Veterans Administration will enable four Dutchess Community College student veterans to continue the college's "Veterans Outreach" project.

Dutchess students selected for the grants are Bernard Diekman, Poughkeepsie; Thomas Hare, Poughkeepsie; Fred Jankowski, Carmel; and Newton Williams, Wappingers Falls.

Working afternoons and evenings, the students will provide information and guidance to the 385 servicemen now enrolled on a full or part-time bassis at Dutchess. Included in this total are more than 130 veterans who returned to classrooms and laboratories at Dutchess this autumn as a result of the summer-long Outreach project.

A second objective for the DCC student-veterans will be the development of enrichment programs which respond to the needs of veterans with spinal cord injuries at Castle Point Veterans Hospital in Beacon. Transportation, motivational counseling, and financial aid information are among the means by which the Dutchess veterans hope to assist patients at Castle Point.

The students are now working from the office of Anthony A. Adamo, associate dean of students, from 5:30 until 9:30 p.m. each evening and from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. on Saturday mornings.

Antique Show Is Slated

POUGHKEEPSIE — Promoters of the 13th annual Temple Beth-El Antiques Show expect at least 35 antique dealers to display at the Nov. 6-7 Poughkeepsie exposition.

The show will be held from noon to 10 p.m. Tuesday and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Wednesday. The show's theme is "Election Day — vote first, then come to the show."

Representing the largest Fall show in the Mid-Hudson area, the exhibition will include furniture, lamps, silver, pewter, china, glass, books, prints, maps, copper, and brass and jewelry at the Temple, 118 Grand Avenue.

Dealers are expected from Dutchess, Ulster, Westchester, Orange, Putnam and Columbia Counties, as well as from Long Island and Connecticut.

Rhinebeck Students on Visitors Day

RHINEBECK — A group of 40 students from Rhinebeck Central School will participate in the Brookhaven National Laboratory High School Visitor's Day Nov. 3.

Brookhaven, situated on the eastern tip of Long Island, is known for its wide range of research activities. This Visitor's Day is intended to give students insight into the work of the diversified group of scientists working at the Lab.

There will be an opportunity to inspect some of the large research facilities in addition to the physics, biology, chemistry, medicine, meteorology and computer science exhibits.

An Open Letter to the Citizens of Kingston . . .

Several months ago, the voters of Kingston were given an opportunity to vote "yes" or "no" on a Democratic sponsored reapportionment plan for the City of Kingston. Through the untiring efforts of the Republican city leaders, including their Mayoral candidate, this was defeated.

It is interesting to note that in a paid Political Ad in the Kingston Daily Freeman of October 24th, the Republican Mayoralty candidate is now asking the voters of Kingston to vote "yes" to reapportionment. But the difference is that this concerns the County. Is this man more interested in this county plan than he was in a plan that would have saved the City of Kingston approximately $50,000 over a ten year period, plus allowing more equal representation in the city government? Other questions are: Is he a city man or just a county man? How can he ask voters to vote on a plan that has already been imposed on them? Has he mentioned to the voters that this plan is already in effect, without benefit of anyone voting? These are questions that should be taken into consideration by our citizens before casting a vote.

We believe the interest of our city would be best served by the candidates that our party has offered.

For continued good government, we urge your vote for the candidates of the Democratic Party.

Conservation Weekend

WALLKILL

A conservation Weekend was held Sept. 28-30 by Ulster County Girl Scouts at Camp Wendy, Wallkill.

Jean Smalldon, area ecologist, opened the program with a short talk on conservation and what each girl can do to promote this. Nature lore was taught along with a few facts.

One group cleared the north end of Lake Louise on Saturday, while another seeded bare spots throughout the camp area and the slope by the new pool. Others worked filling holes near the water faucets to prevent erosion.

Some 70 girls took part in the weekend coordinated by Mrs. Lois Hill, Mrs. Irene Murdock and Mrs. Jean McElrath.

VW Eliminates 'The Worry'

CRANGEBURG — While most automobile manufacturers are thinking up things they can put into their cars, Volkswagen for 1974 has come up with something it could take out.

What's missing from VW passenger cars, convertibles, station wagons, trucks, recreational vehicles and Karmann Ghias for 1974?

According to World - Wide Volkswagen Corp., whose 143 authorized dealers in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut are selling and servicing the new VW line it's "the worry."

By introducing a revolutionary new warranty — called the VW Owner's Security Blanket With Computer Analysis — the company has taken "the worry" out of owning a new car.

The industry's most extensive warranty, the VW Owner's Security Blanket, provides 1974 buyers of any model VW with 12 months or 20,000 miles of fret-free driving, covering everything except filters, fluids and lubricants. Included are such things as brake pads, spark plugs, windshield wipers and free loaner cars, the latter provided if for some reason repairs can't be made the same day they're scheduled.

In addition, engine and transmission components are covered under an extension policy for either two years or 24,000 miles.

Among the improvements found in the new line for 1974 in various models are self-restoring, energy-absorbing bumpers on the passenger cars; a self-centering steering system in Super Beetles for straight-line braking on surfaces with unequal friction a bigger engine in the top-of-the line 412 four-door and wagon; and more powerful engines in the station wagons, campmobiles, panel trucks and Kombis. Campmobiles have a redesigned interior and the full line has numerous technical improvements, including the addition of a sensor so that the ignition system of all models can be checked by computer analysis.

Rounding out the line is VW's multi-purpose recreational vehicle, The Thing. Built in Mexico, it's a stark, rugged machine with four removable doors, a fold-down windshield and a detachable convertible top.

Amerling Volkswagen Inc., Ulster Avenue Mall, is the local VW franchised dealer.

INTER COUNTY EXHIBIT — Open house will be held Sunday from 2 to 4 p. m. at Inter-County Savings Bank, Main Street, New Paltz, to celebrate the opening of a new exhibition of decoupages by local artist, John B. Guttman. Guttman, who had a previous exhibit at the bank, this time conveys his thoughts and impressions in an amazingly wide range of subjects including plants, animals, landscapes, satires on the local scene, Bible illustrations and his concern with inflation and pollution. Since the decoupages are lacking lines and color the observer is invited to let his imagination subconsciously complete the pictures and thus share the artist's pleasure in creating them.

Kelder Is Reelected by Dairymen

PINE BUSH — Wayne Kelder of Accord was reelected commiteeman during the annual dinner meeting of District 6 of the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council held at the High View Inn in Pine Bush.

Also reelected were Mino Menendeg of Walden and Graham Jamison of Thompson Ridge.

Donald Pinegar, director of communications of ADA and DCNY, Syracuse, was the featured speaker. Pinegar commented on the expanded milk promotion program on in Federal Order No. 2, and reported sales increases in New York State since the expansion started, milk consumption has shown a 2 per cent increase.

Joy Donner, program director of Dairy Council of the Mid-Hudson, reported on nutrition education activities in the district.

Additionally, Jack Thorn, director, related some of the activities of the board of directors during the past year.

In addition to those elected, other commiteemen making up the District No. 6 local board of committemen include Chester Williamson, Westtown, and Richard Hansen, Unionville.

7.90% effective annual yield on 7½% guaranteed per year for 4 to 7 years, (minimum deposit $1000)

Now, the highest rate allowed by law.

Confused by so many different rates? We don't blame you. Federal regulations regarding interest rates on term accounts have fluctuated widely in past months.

But now, an absolute maximum has been set on the rate savings banks may pay for deposits of $1000 to $100,000 committed to terms of 4 to 7 years. And Heritage pays that maximum.

Heritage also pays the highest interest rate allowed on deposits of $1000 to $100,000 committed to shorter lengths of term:

TERM	EFFECTIVE ANNUAL YIELD	GUARANTEED ANNUAL INTEREST
90 days-1 year	6%	5¾%
1-2½ years	6.81%	6½%
2½-4 years	7.08%	6¾%

If this still seems a bit confusing, just remember two things:

1. These are the highest rates allowed by law.
2. Some banks may pay less, but not Heritage. We pay you the highest rates allowed on all accounts, including term and passbook savings accounts.

Heritage Savings Bank—providing for your future.

Offer available for limited time only.

Federal law permits premature withdrawals on term accounts provided rate of interest on amount withdrawn is reduced to the passbook rate (5¼%) and 90 days' interest is forfeited.

Family Judge Candidates Discuss Future of Court

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

Ulster County's three contenders for two Family Court Judgeships in the Nov. 6 election poured forth their feelings concerning the court and its present and future operations at a luncheon discussion in the Old Dutch Church in Bethany Hall Wednesday.

Incumbent Republican Family Court Judge Hugh R. Elwyn cited his 10 years in office, his handling of about 15,000 cases, saying "I'm the one guy there doing the job, and I take a back seat to no one as far as compassion is concerned." but, he cautioned, "it takes more than having your heart pinned in the right place. . . you have to do what feels right regardless of where the chips may fall."

Each case has to be decided on its merits and no two cases are alike, he suggested.

Asked if he feels the Family Court is too lenient and should be stricter as a deterent to crime; Judge Elwyn called it "a loaded question" explaining that many things are involved such as punishment, reform retribution and the safety of the community. Each is part of a case and one can't generalize, he said.

Bernard Feeney, another Republican candidate for a second Family Court Judgeship, said he felt the primary concern is for the safety of the community and Democrat William C. Mullany disagreed somewhat saying that more should be done in the way of facilities and rehabilitation and that the Family Court policies of the past 10 years must not be set aside. He cited the failure of the schools to reach minority group children, and give them sufficient incentive to go to school. He called for public and private outside agencies to provide resources when any disposition, other than dismissal or suspended judgement is contemplated.

Feeney called for court reform saying the present court's hands are tied and legislative action is needed.

Of primary importance, Judge Elwyn suggested, is a decision as to whether the Family Court is strictly a civil court or whether, arrangement should not be made for handling of criminal matters that come before it. Citing the fact that he as judge can't prosecute a criminal case nor can members of the Probation Department, and that a district attorney does not appear in Family Court, Judge Elwyn feels that a responsibility should be centered on someone to prosecute in Family Court. Over the years there has been a metamorphasis from strictly civil to cases involving criminal acts in Family Court, he explained.

Feeney said the court's hands are tied by the Family Court Act and that there is a need for reform. He feels a need for better salaries for probation workers to avoid the constant turnover of employes and consequent backlog of cases. Additional help is also needed, he said, to follow up support orders. If support payment can be secured, Feeney said, welfare payments will be less and the cost to the taxpayer will be decreased.

He suggested too that children who are kept actively engaged in scouting, sports and other programs are less apt to be candidates for Family Court. He Judge Elwyn and Mullany all agreed that the present age of 16 is appropriate as far as granting the anonymity of Family Court to a youngster in trouble.

Mullany disagreed with Judge Elwyn's contention that "everyone is morally accountable for his own actions," saying, "I am my brother's keeper."

Mullany suggested that a family Court Judge must carry on in a quasi-social role. He said that if he were judge he would want to be a catalyst to tell people how they can help improve socio-economic conditions. "First and foremost a Family Court Judge is a judge and as a judge he must be a leader," Mullany concluded.

Student Leaders Want Nixon to Resign

By TIM SCHUSTER

POUGHKEEPSIE

Elected student body presidents of seven Mid-Hudson colleges have issued a joint statement calling for the resignation of President Nixon.

At a Wednesday morning press conference at Marist College's Champagnat Hall the students representing Bard, New Paltz, Dutchess, Ulster, Mt. St. Mary, Vassar, and Marist Colleges described the various backing that has been given the statement at their respective campuses.

The statement from the first convocation of the Mid-Hudson Student Association in a year and a half reportedly represents the sentiments of a majority of the some 20,000 students in the colleges.

Only Bennett College of Millbrook did not join the others in the statement, as a representative told the Freeman that it had received "about 50 per cent" support at Bennett and it was not felt this was clear cut enough to warrant its joining the petition.

At Bard, according to President Cheryl Cheving, the statement was ratified by the student body; at Vassar a reported 60 per cent of the student body has signed such a petition; at Marist, the Student Policy Board approved it, and petitions are circulating; at Ulster it was reported by Kenneth Blundell, student government president, that the student body had drafted the resolution and petitions are circulating; at New Paltz, Chairman Ronald Law said the executive body called for the action, along with petitions; and at Dutchess a "mock election" was scheduled, in addition to petitions.

Copies of the Mid-Hudson Student Association statement are being mailed to congressmen, senators, the president, the House Judiciary Committee and th Urban Committee.

Cheryl Chevins, commented that a New York Times statement calling for a special election was a "good idea." The matter is expected to be brought up today at the regional meeting of the New York Student Association.

A special program will be held at Vassar's Taylor Hall Thursday at 7:30 p.m. by the organization for the impeachment of the president at that college. It will feature guests speakers Allard Lowenstein and John Dow, former congressmen, along with Norman Siegel, president of the New York Civil Liberties Union.

It was emphasized by several speakers that petitions are good, but individual letters to representatives work better, and they urged concerted letter writing, especially to Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. of Millbrook.

And when the question of a student strike on campus was suggested by a newsman, it was answered by stating that a strike may be a good idea, but it "doesn't help our problems."

"Striking against the schools would be senseless," aid one student. "They are not our enemies."

The formation of the statement was one of two reasons for the reactivation of the MHSA, according to Law. The other was to begin coordinated efforts on campus problems and internal affairs after a prolonged fallow period.

Grounds given in the statement for President Nixon's resignation incuded: "He has ignored the will of the people by impounding funds for social welfare programs. . . ."

Also, "he has conducted a dangerous one-man foreign policy, often inspired by personal political motives; he has attempted to hamper investigations which may show him guilty of high crimes and/or misdemeanors; he has lost the ability to manage the government and to lead the nation; and, most importantly, he has encouraged an atmosphere of corruption in an administration pledged to law and order."

Referring to the phrase "lost the ability to manage the government," Law said this only meant that his low popularity undermined his effectiveness.

And, after stating positions on the establishment of an independent special prosecutor's office to be headed by Archibald Cox, the paper concluded, "Men more capable of assuming the offices of the President and Vice President must be found."

People can't easily buy what you have, if they don't know you have it.

Therapy Talk Slated

NEW PALTZ

Mary Anne Coffey, executive director of the Children's Rehabilitation Center in Kingston, will discuss a widely-known method of therapy for children with cerebral palsy Tuesday, Nov. 13, at the State University College at New Paltz.

Mrs. Coffey's lecture, "Neurodevelopment Therapy: The Bobath Method," will begin at 7 p. m. in Room 102 of the college's Lecture Center, according to an announcement by Professor Charles R. Elliott of the College's Department of Speech.

The program will be free and open to the public. Its sponsors are the Department of Speech and the Speech and Hearing Club, a student organization.

The Bobath method, Mrs. Coffey says, emphasizes a comprehensive approach to the disabilities arising from cerebral palsy, identification of the stage of neurodevelopment at which disabilities arise, and continual assessment of the effects of therapy on the child.

The method is named for its developers, Berta and Karel Bobath of the Western Cerebral Palsy Center in London. In 1971 Mrs. Coffey attended the first certified workshop in the method to be given in the eastern United States.

Mrs. Coffey assumed her post with the Children's Rehabilitation Center last May. A native of Syracuse, she holds a bachelor's degree in audiology and speech pathology from Syracuse University and has extensive teaching and clinical experience in the field.

Exhibition Set At New Paltz

NEW PALTZ

An exhibition of paintings and lithographs by Daniel Serra-Badue, a Cuban-born artist now living in New York City, is currently on view at the College Art Gallery at the State University College at New Paltz.

Serra-Badue gave his first one-man exhibitions in Europe, Latin America and the United States, including one at SUC New Paltz in 1961, and his work has hung in dozens of group shows at major museums and galleries.

Reviewing a 1957 exhibition, Stuart Preston of the New York Times wrote: "Everything but poetic content is explicit in Serra-Badue's work—it's hard, high finish; its positive, hot color and its steely, accurate draftsmanship. . . . The message conveyed is less easily defined and can best be described as a robust surrealism that owes as much to de Chirico as to any artist. The puzzles remain puzzling, but no one can accuse them of being vaguely presented."

The mother of Serra-Badue was one of 75 girls sent by the American military government of Cuba to New Paltz in 1901 for teacher training. Born in Santiago in 1914, he attended the School of Fine Arts in Barcelona and the National Academy of Design, Columbia University and the Art Students League in New York City.

The College Art Gallery is open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday; 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. Thursday; 2 to 5 p. m. Sunday. It is closed Saturdays. The Serra-Badu show will remain until Nov. 4.

Mrs. Levan Christiana provided traditional wedding selections.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kusti Mouru of High Falls. The bridegroom is the son of Donald Till of New Paltz and the late Helen Till.

Kusti Mouru gave his daughter in marriage. She selected a white satapeau gown in the empire styling. Venise lace encircled the ring neckline, cuffs of semi-bishop sleeves and the detachable chapel train. Matching lace formed a front panel. Her two-tiered silk illusion veil was attached to a Venise lace and pearl headpiece. She carried a bouquet of white miniature carnations, gold daisy pompons and baby's breath.

Mrs. Henry Schimmrich of High Falls served as matron of honor for her sister in an A-line gown, fashioned with a pink bodice and cranberry skirt. She carried a bouquet of white miniature carnations and baby's breath.

Donald Till, father of the bridegroom of New Paltz, served as best man.

A reception was held at Ivan's Restaurant, Stone Ridge.

The bride, a graduate of Rondout High School, is employed by Miron's Building Products, Inc. as a bookkeeper. Her husband was graduated from Kingston High School and served in the U.S. Marine Corps. He is employed by Kingston Auto Mart.

Mr. and Mrs. Till will make their home in Lake Katrine.

MRS. STEPHEN P. J. PICCIRELLO
(Christine Maria Johnson)

Vows Are Exchanged

Christine Maria Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Robert Johnson, 5 Jeffrey Court, Saugerties, and Stephen Peter John Piccirello, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph N. Piccirello, Woodstock, were united in marriage in St. John's Church, Centerville. The Rev. Msgr. John Reardon officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Miss Judy Fiero provided traditional wedding selections and accompanied the bride's father who sang Schubert's "Ave Maria."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of ivory chiffon and lace in an empire design. The yoke was outlined with eyelet lace, threaded with pale blue satin ribbon. Matching lace and ribbon trim accented the mandarin neckline and cuffs of the bishop sleeves. The bride also wore her mother's antique cross. A headpiece of velvet orange blossoms in the pale blue held her double-tiered veil of silk illusion. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and pale blue baby's breath.

Miss Kathleen Piccirello, sister of the bridegroom, Woodstock, served as maid of honor in a gown styled with a white bodice and red skirt.

Miss Linda (Betsy) Johnson, sister of the bride, Saugerties, was junior bridesmaid. She wore an empire gown of white with red polka-dot trim.

A reception was held at The Stockade Restaurant, Kingston.

The bride, a 1972 graduate of Saugerties High School, is a sophomore at Ulster County Community College, where she is a candidate for an AAS degree. Her husband is also a 1972 graduate of Saugerties High School and is attending UCCC. He is employed at Ferroxcube Corporation, Saugerties.

Hooked Rugs, Quilts Exhibited Locally

"Hooking rugs is strictly an American craft which was prevalent in the days of the American colonies," claimed Mrs. Raymond A. Bonestell, during a recent interview.

Mrs. Bonestell aroused the curiosity of many people as to the history and work involved in hooking rugs when she participated in a recent rug and quilt display at Bankers Trust's 301 Wall Street Office. Rugs and quilts were one of the crafts shown at the Fall Festival in Uptown Kingston. In conjunction with the festival, held by the Historical Society of Ulster County and the Uptown Businessmen's Association, several banks opened their lobbies to set up displays.

Mrs. Bonestell spoke of the necessity as well as the pleasure of hooking rugs in early America. Women found that by making rugs they were able to keep out some of the cold which eminated from floors that were predominately dirt or stone.

Although the materials used today for hooking rugs are much finer, mostly wool or wool derivative, old worn clothes were mostly used in the early makings. As time passed the bulk of wool came from the uniforms of soldiers of the Revolutionary War, the War of 1812 and the Civil War.

In creating a rug pattern many women turned to leaves for a design. Others stylized flowers or attempted a recreation of their home.

Today, yarn can be dyed into various shades of color but back when natural dyes were used, the process was not a simple one. Onion skins were boiled to create the color yellow and the bark from walnut trees and nuts were boiled to produce light and dark browns. Salt or vinegar was needed to set the dyes.

Mrs. Bonestell went on to say that the actual process of hooking demands cutting strands of yarn fine enough so that a hook can be used to pull the yarn through the burlap pattern. She claims that today's hooked rugs can be three dimensional giving the rug greater depth and form which women could not produce on the early rugs.

Under the tuteledge of Mrs. Snell, who taught rug hooking in the 1950s for the Adult Education classes of the Kingston Consolidated School System, Mrs. Bonestell soon became so proficient in the craft that she too began teaching at night school. In recent years she has given instructions through Ulster County Home Extension Service.

Commenting on the display, Mrs. Bonestell said, "I was happy and surprised to see the number of people who showed an interest in rug hooking. This craft is a very time-consuming one. The Fall Fesitval gave people a chance to find out how much hard work goes into making one."

There Is a Time to Disobey

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I'm going to have to disagree with you on this one. Obedience to one's parents is not the highest and greatest good, not even for a 13-year-old.

Anyone, even a child, is morally obligated to disobey authority when authority demands something that violates the conscience. This principle was brought home to me by my eldest daughter when she was seven, upon her hearing the story of Abraham and Isaac for the first time. "It's wrong to kill," declared my precocious moralist, "and you should never do what you know is wrong, even if God tells you to." By the same principle, it is similarly wrong to refrain from doing good because one has been forbidden to do it.

Susan's friend, if she is sufficiently courageous, should tell her mother that she regrets the necessity of being disobedient, but that she cannot conscientiously be obedient in this instance. She should then offer to accept whatever reasonable punishment the mother may care to impose, and then endure the punishment with as much courtesy and stoicism as she can muster.

The kind of obedience you advocate for Susan's friend is qualitatively the same as that of the Nazis who were "only obeying orders" when they slaughtered Jews. The matter involved is not so serious as murder, that's all.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

DEAR FOOD: Your letter is more than "food for thought" — it's an intellectual banquet.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband has the women in his office running errands all over town in his 1973 limousine. When I tell him it looks bad, he says their own cars are either falling apart or their gas tanks are empty.

I suggested that he buy a company station wagon and put the name of his company on the door, and have the girls run his errands in that. He says: "I'm not letting the small town gossips run my business just because they have poisoned your mind about how it looks." I told him I poisoned my own mind on the subject. Meanwhile, I drive a small economy car to run my errands.

What do you think about this?

THE POORER HALF

DEAR POORER: I can understand your annoyance at having your husband's women employees driving his '73 limousine all over town on errands, but there's a better reason for suggesting he get a company car. It would be a legitimate company expense — and save gasoline!

* * *

DEAR ABBY: A mother wrote saying she was "AT WITS END" because her 30-year-old widowed daughter let her housekeeping go while she did "useless' things like writing poetry, planting flowers, taking ballet lessons. And she dragged her six-year-old son to museums and art exhibitions. ("What can a six-year-old learn from an art exhibit?" she asks.)

I endorse your reply in which you defended the daughter, and would like to add that my parents "dragged" me to concerts, museums, and art exhibits when I was a toddler.

I was awakened one night to "come see the Northern Lights," and told of the Aurora Borealis. I saw Sousa in one of his last concerts, and heard Mark Twain in his last appearance in his native state. I was reading at the age of four, and soon afterwards my father opened his entire library to me, showing me how to handle books carefully — they were precious.

Abby, I bless my parents for showing me the beauty of the world. I continue to find life interesting and exciting. I am 79.

Three cheers for daughter!

MRS. M. D. IN MISSOURI

A Yesteryear Recipe: Carrot Cake

What wonderful nostalgia is associated with the recipes of yesteryear, preserved in dogeared old recipe binders and on faded recipe cards. Especially missed are the moist cakes our grandmas used to bake, made from scratch, using the finest ingredients from the farm and served with rich homemade ice cream.

When the frost is on the pumpkin, try Calico Carrot Cake, an easy-to-do adaptation of the traditional old favorite. It's plumb full of raisins, loaded with eggs, lightly spiced with cinnamon and frosted with a buttery, cream cheese frosting dotted with crunchy walnuts. But, instead of scraping and grating the carrots by hand, you use a package of carrott nuggets frozen in butter sauce that clings. They add a marvelous moistness and flavor to Calico Carrott Cake.

CALICO CARROT CAKE

Calico Carrot Cake

One 10-oz. package carrot nuggets frozen in butter sauce that clings
Two cups flour
Two cups sugar
One teaspoon baking soda
One teaspoon baking powder
One and one-half teaspoons cinnamon
One teaspoon salt
One cup plus two tablespoons vegetable oil
Four eggs
One cup raisins

FROSTING

One-half cup butter or margarine, softened
One 8-oz. package cream cheese, softened
Three and one-half cups confectioners' sugar
One-half teaspoon vanilla
One-half cup coarsely chopped walnuts

Cook carrots according to package directions only until thawed. Place carrots in blender and grate coarsely, do not puree. Sift flour, sugar, baking soda, baking powder, cinnamon and salt together into a large mixing bowl. Add oil and beat. Add eggs one at a time, beating after each, until creamy. Stir in carrots and raisins. Pour batter into a greased 9x13-inch pan. Bake in a preheated 350 degree oven for 45 minutes. Cool before frosting.

FROSTING: Cream butter and cream chesse together. Add sugar and vanilla and beat until smooth. Spread evenly over cake and sprinkle with walnuts.

PIPE THE FANCY STITCHES ON HER!

By HELOISE

Dear Heloise:

Have you ever sewed piping on a garment only to find, when turned right side out, there is a spot or two where the piping shows more than it should?

I've found an easy method that will give the piping the proper look, the first time.

With a basting stitch, I sew the piping in place on the right side of the fabric. I place the facing, cuff, etc. . . . on top, right sides together . . . and then pin in place.

I turn the fabric so the basting stitch line is on top, then sew as usual, following the basting line.

I turn it right side out and the piping is perfect.

Mrs. P.J. Waldon

* * *

Nicely done, Mrs. Waldon! It works fantabulously!

But have you ever tried the zipper technique?

With right sides of fabric together, insert piping in between, using adjustable zipper foot with the needle to the left side of zipper foot (needle closest to the piping).

Stitch as usual (slowly) by keeping raw edges of fabric and piping together and, with left thumb, hold piping as close to the needle as possible.

This gives you a lovely one-step operation.

Do try it, Mrs. Waldon, and see if you like it.

Dear Heloise:

Several days ago my husband was taping together some broken collar stays — the large ones that come in the new, large collars.

Even with careful handling (no washing, no drying) they broke, and replacements were not available.

I began looking around for some flexible plastic from which to cut new ones. After emptying a plastic hand lotion bottle, I cut a new pair plus a spare.

They worked beautifully! Dishwashing detergent bottles should do as well. Be sure to remove any print on the bottle with polish remover.

Celtics Responded to Whip

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tommy Heinsohn gave the Boston Celtics a mental whipping and they made the Cleveland Cavaliers pay for it.

After being chewed out by the boss, the Celtics chewed up the Cavaliers 128-110 in the National Basketball Association Wednesday night.

"We were sky-high tonight," said Heinsohn.

And for good reason. Before the game, the fiery Boston coach gave his team an earful for losing a 102-99 decision to the Cavs last Sunday.

The Celtics' victory was their fifth in eight starts and moved them into a virtual tie with idle Buffalo for the lead in the NBA's Atlantic Division.

In the night's other NBA games, the New York Knicks trimmed the Houston Rockets 102-91 and the Detroit Pistons beat the Seattle SuperSonics 114-107.

In the American Basketball Association, the Denver Rockets beat the New York Nets 107-104; the Kentucky Colonels walloped the San Diego Conquistadors 146-105 and the San Antonio Spurs edged the Carolina Cougars 101-99 in overtime.

Don Nelson and Don Chaney sparked Boston to a 17-point lead in the first seven minutes and the aggressive Celtics went on to their easy victory over Cleveland.

Knicks 102, Rockets 91

Dave DeBusschere and Willis Reed led New York on a fourth-quarter surge. The Knicks entered the last quarter with a 75-68 lead but opened it up to 19 points behind their two big guns. Reed led the Knicks with 21 points and DeBusschere had 20.

Pistons 114, SuperSonics 107

Dave Bing and Curtis Rowe combined for 19 points in the final period to help Detroit beat Seattle 114-107. Bing scored 28 points overall and Rowe had 21 to power the Piston attack.

Rockets 107, Nets 104

Rookie Mike Green hit a layup after a blocked shot to put Denver ahead with 51 seconds left and the Rockets held on to beat New York. The Rockets rallied from a 16-point deficit in the third quarter to snap a three-game losing streak.

Colonels 146, Conquistadors 105

Kentucky tied an ABA rebounding record and set five team marks in beating San Diego 146-105. The Colonels grabbed a club-record 83 rebounds. Sixty of those were defensive rebounds to tie a league record.

Spurs 101, Cougars 99

James Silas scored six points in overtime, including the deciding field goal, to lead San Antonio to a 101-99 triumph over Carolina. The Spurs rallied to tie the game at 91-91 at the end of regulation play.

Pirates Obtain Reuss

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates figure they've traded quality for quality to build what they hope will be the best pitching staff in baseball.

The Pirates obtained lefthander Jerry Reuss from Houston Wednesday for catcher Milt May. Reuss is the second left-handed pitcher to come to Pittsburgh in two weeks. The Pirates also obtained Ken Brett from Philadelphia.

May, 23, was a starting catcher with Pittsburgh last summer until June 15, when then-manager Bill Virdon decided nobody could fill Roberto Clemente's shoes in rightfield and brought Manny Sanguillen back to home plate.

Reuss, who has never been too happy with Houston anyway, says the Astros paid too high a price for May.

"Only Dave Roberts won more games than me this year," said Reuss, who was 16-13. "You don't trade away one of your top pitchers for a player who has not proven himself."

Joe Brown, Pirates' general manager, will challenge that when Reuss gets to Pittsburgh.

"It wasn't an easy trade to make," he said Wednesday night. "We gave up a man who can become an outstanding catcher. That was the price we were willing to pay to get Reuss."

Reuss, a volatile radio talk show host in the off hours, who often took on the Houston management, says May is a "top prospect" who'll play regularly with Houston, "but I have proven myself."

It was a trade which closely resembled the Pirates' swap of second baseman Dave Cash for Brett. Cash was a sometimes-spectacular glove man whose reputation as a clutch hitter was short-lived last season. His assets and liabilities mirrored those of his successor, Rennie Stennett, but Stennett had one more thing going for him—youth.

Sanguillen never recovered his catching form after returning from right field but the Bucs are banking on him once again becoming the National League East's answer to Johnny Bench. So May, who hit .269 in 101 games, was expendable.

BITE HARD — Former world heavyweight champ Muhammad Ali bites tongue depressor for Dr. Harry Kleiman (R) of the N. Y. State Athletic Commission during test of his jaw Wednesday at the Felt Forum. Cancellation of a Far East tour brought rumors that Ali had reinjured his jaw which was broken by Ken Norton eight months ago. As Commission Vice President Harry Condon watches, Dr. Kleiman said there was no apparent damage, and Ali said he was ready to "whup" Joe Frazier in January. (UPI)

North Stars Coach Is Getting Fed Up

The Minnesota North Stars are in a rut and Coach Jack Gordon is getting fed up.

"When you're outshot 14-4 in the first period," grumbled Gordon after Wednesday night's 5-0 loss to the Boston Bruins. "It shows me something . . . a lack of desire."

The Stars also have a lack of victories. Minnesota, the National Hockey League's only winless club, has gone to the post 11 times this year and come away with five losses and six ties.

"It was a disgrace," continued Gordon. "If you're not in shape physically, you're not mentally prepared."

Gordon promptly announced two-a-day workouts, starting Thursday.

In other NHL games, the Buffalo Sabres beat the California Golden Seals 3-2 and the Pittsburgh Penguins skated to a 1-1 tie with the Montreal Canadiens.

In the World Hockey Association, the Cleveland Crusaders trimmed the Winnipeg Jets 6-4 and the Quebec Nordiques dumped the Vancouver Blazers 5-1.

Gordon cited the play of goalie Cesar Maniago as one of the few bright spots for his team.

"If Cesar didn't make all those bloody saves, they would have hit double figures," said the coach.

Sabres 3, Seals 2

Rick Martin scored all three Buffalo goals and California managed just 19 shots on goal, only four of them in the first period. The Sabres were making their first appearance since losing star center Gil Perreault Sunday with a boken leg.

Penguins 1, Canadiens 1

Peter Mahovlich scored in the second period for Montreal and Lowell Macdonald tied it for Pittsburgh in the third. Canadiens' Coach Scotty Bowman was unhappy with his team's performance but he was really angry with referee Wally Harris. "This guy is a lousy referee. He's afraid to give a penalty in this building," declared Bowman, speaking of the Montreal Forum. "I'll bet you that over the past four or five years, he hasn't called more than four or five penalties a game here."

Crusaders 6, Jets 4

Cleveland's Jim Wiste broke a 4-4 tie with a power-play goal from 15 feet out in the final period, and Wayne Hillman added an 80-footer into an open net with just 22 seconds left.

Nordiques 5, Blazers 1

Jeannot Gilbert, Rejean Houle and Alain Caron notched first-period goals and Quebec coasted to its eighth win against four losses and no ties. The victory boosted the Nordiques into first place in the W[illegible].

Stumpf Traded

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Winger Bob Stumpf, a third round pick in last May's amateur hockey draft, was traded Wednesday by the Philadelphia Flyers of the National Hockey League to the St. Louis Blues for defenseman George Pesut.

The Blues also received an undisclosed amount of cash in the deal.

The Flyers said Pesut would be assigned to the club's Richmond Robins farm club in the American Hockey league.

Ali's Jaw . . . It's Working

By GREG GALLO

NEW YORK (UPI)—Muhammad Ali's jaw is not broken again. Just listen.

"If there was something wrong with my jaw I'd be in a hospital. I just chewed a steak dinner. How can I chew a steak dinner with a broken jaw? What's all this fuss about anyway?

"People get their jaw broke everyday. People die everyday in Israel and Egypt. But the whole world wants to know if I hurt my jaw. Two people are dead on the street in Philadelphia. Sixteen die on the George Washington Bridge and my tooth hurts and the whole world's got to know. It shows you what this country is all about. I feel guilty. Lord have mercy.

"All this attention, for what? This shows you how messed up the world is. A plane crashes with 96 people on it and some little colored fighter like me gets all the headlines. People die in wars. This is serious. All this attention over a boxing match . . . this shows you how fickle the people of the world are.

"I'll be glad when I retire."

Ali talked non-stop for close to 45 minutes Wednesday as he denied the story earlier in the week that said he had reinjured his jaw, broken eight months ago by Ken Norton. When he had finished no one doubted his jaw was in fine working order.

An examination by Dr. Harry Kleiman of the New York State Athletic Commission found Ali's jaw to be in good condition.

"He's got an excellent bite," said Kleiman. "It appears that a permanent bridge came loose."

Rumors began to circulate Monday that the reason Ali's exhibition tour of Asia had been canceled was because the former champion had reinjured his jaw. Ali had been bothered by a bad tooth but the real reason for the cancelation was because promoters were talking a bath at the gate.

Ali had traveled to Jakarta, Indonesia, and defeated Rudi Lubbers on Oct. 20 in a warmup for his return with Joe Frazier at Madison Square Garden on Jan 28.

"The fight itself ain't nothin'," said Ali as he turned his attention to Frazier. "One win and one lose."

As easily as Ali talked about defeat, his pride wouldn't let him get carried away with another loss to Frazier.

"I've got to give Joe Frazier a good whuppin'," said Ali. "Get him in that ring and whup him good. I made him famous. In Indonesia they run around and say, 'Joe Frazier, Joe Frazier.

JUMP PASS — Arlington's flashy quarterback Kevin Kelly (10) leaps high behind good protection Wednesday and starts to fire a pass in the second quarter against host Saugerties. Kelly had a spectacular day completing 15 of 25 attempts, but the Sawyers triumphed, 19-8. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Sawyers Upstage Arlington, 19-8

By STEVE KANE

SAUGERTIES

Arlington High's aerial circus came to Saugerties Wednesday afternoon in an unusual mid-week DCSL extravaganza. It was a well-rehearsed, three-man act featuring the golden arm of Kevin Kelly and the sticky fingers of Scott Gleckel and Dave Rugar.

It was a thrilling performance, but Fred Seither's Sawyers upstaged it all with a strongman act that pushed all the fireworks out into a sideshow. Saugerties won the football game, 19-8.

Sal Misasi, a daring young man on the flying off-tackle play, rushed for 118 yards to lead an unstoppable Sawyer ground game. Tackle Scott Wilson and end Bob Tammany played like a couple of caged lions and had the Admirals wishing for a Clyde Beatty rescue. In all, it was a satisfying afternoon for ringmaster Seither, and it made him say, "The team is starting to come around. They're finally believing they can play this game."

Saugerties began playing very quickly. First the winners pushed Arlington back 13 yards, then they grabbed possession and marched 52 yards for a first period score. Quarterback Nick Malgieri, who had himself quite a day, ran the touchdown 23 yards.

Arlington's line took quite a pounding during that drive, and they continued to suffer abuse through the remainder of the period. Midway through the second quarter, Arlington had to punt from its end zone, and the Sawyers started out in good field position at the 35.

The second touchdown, however, never happened. The Admirals twice stopped Sawyer blasts on the one-yard line, then the talented Kelly lived up to his reputation. Fading dangerously back into his own end zone, Kelly surprised the Sawyers with a bomb to Rugar who was finally hauled down 64 yards upfield.

Wayne Bruyn managed to stay the Admirals with the first of his two interceptions, but a Sawyer fumble gave Arlington another chance only five plays later. There was less than a minute to go in the half at that point, but it was enough time for Kelly to complete three passes and move 24 yards for Hennessey for a two-pointer to give Arlington a surprising 8-6 lead.

But Saugerties was simply too strong to lose this one, and it showed clearly in the second half. The defense continued to pressure Kelly heavily, sacking him six times in the game and dishing out hard belts on almost every release. That he completed 15 of his 25 attempts and gained 194 yards was quite an accomplishment under the circumstances.

Saugerties did an encore of its opening drive to begin the second half. They began on their own 42 and went all the way for a score. He hit Rugar for a one-yard TD and flipped to Tim Gay in 12 plays with Tom Hallion scoring from the five. Malgieri, behind fine blocking, used his runners judiciously and consumed almost six minutes of the period. That seemed to reestablish Saugerties' superiority, but Arlington, a team that does not need first downs to socre points, still had to be contained.

Tom Abate made it simple. He picked off one of Kelly's dumps over the middle to get the ball back on the Arlington 46. A short drive later, Wilson booted a 10-yard field goal for a nine-point lead.

Wilson, who already had two conversion kicks to his credit, got in on the final scoring when he teamed with Tammany to sack Kelly in the end zone for a safety.

Bruyn's second steal killed Arlington's final thrust with only seconds to play in the game.

"We didn't try to do anything really special to stop their passing," said Seither. "We just tried to adapt our 4-4." The Sawyer front four was very well adapted.

Arlington coach Frank King looked across the empty field and summed it up nicely. "That," he said, "is a hard hitting team."

Pro Debut for Crenshaw

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)— Former University of Texas star Ben Crenshoaw leads a group of young golfers who will challenge a cast of veterans for the championship of the $125,000 Texas Open which begins today.

Many top pros will skip the late-season event.

Crenshaw, who won last weeks PGA qualifying tournament by 12 strokes, has won $8,000 in three starts since turning professional.

The former Longhorn won the last three NCAA championships and teamed with Tom Kite, who has a chance to be rookie of the year this season, to bring Texas two NCAA team titles.

Other young golfers who will be after the $25,000 first prize will be 1970 NCAA titleholder John Mahaffey, Forrest Fezler and Dwight Nevil.

Mike Hill, younger brother of the better-known Dave Hill, will be defending the title he won in 1972 with a 15-under-par 273 when the Woodlake Golf Club course played at par 72.

The Final Week

KINGSTON

This should be the week of the quiet before the final storm in area high school football.

The Ulster County Athletic League, now in a two-team race, should remain that way following Saturday's games what with Ellenville (6-1) at Rondout (2-5), and Wallkill (6-1) hosting Liberty (1-5-1).

In the other UCAL contests, Highland (5-2) goes to Pine Bush (4-3), Red Hook (5-2) travels to Marlboro (1-5-1), and Onteora (1-6) entertains New Paltz (3-4).

Kingston High (4-2) figures to have its easiest game of the season when it takes on winless Poughkeepsie (0-6) in the final Dietz Stadium game of the year.

Other DCSL games pit John Jay (4-2) with Beacon (5-1) away, Lourdes (2-5) at Ketcham (5-1), and Arlington (3-2 going into Wednesday's game with Saugerties) at Roosevelt (1-5).

Unless either Ellenville or Wallkill is upset in the UCAL, or unless John Jay can surprise Beacon in the DCSL, the season will head into its final explosive week with each race in doubt and with Kingston playing at Saugerties to make things that much more interesting.

The unexpected is rather remote in all spots Saturday except Beacon, where John Jay's strong running game is given a real shot at disposing of Beacon, thus giving Ketcham sole possession of first place. And if Lourdes can beat Ketcham, the DCSL will turn into a four-team race with the Patriots and Kingston thrown in the struggle.

Regardless of this week's outcomes, the final Saturday bill of fare, with Ketcham at Jay, Beacon at Arlington, and Kingston at Saugerties is the most intriguing of the season.

Similarly in the UCAL, co-leaders Ellenville and Wallkill don't figure to have much trouble winning this week. And Wallkill's chances look good for the final Saturday since it finishes at New Paltz. But the Ellies wind up the campaign at Red Hook, and that could mean problems for the defending champions.

The things to watch this week are the effects of a one-game winning streak on Liberty against Wallkill as compared to the proble come-down the Panthers will have following last week's thriller over Highland.

Then there's the over-confidence angle which can hurt a team like Ellenville which is going up against a faltering Rondout eleven.

And finally there's the question of which way Highland is to go now that it has dropped two straight for the first time in years and is facing a formidable Pine Bush club.

As for Kingston, one almost hates to think what that tough Maroon defense is going to do against a Poughkeepsie team which has scored only one touchdown all season and which was held to 39 total yards last week against Jay, only three of which were picked up on the ground.

You have to figure KHS would be flying high after scoring 26 points against Lourdes last week, its largest total of a successful campaign, but you also have to wonder if Kingston is not looking past the Pioneers to Saugerties next week. If that's the case, even Poughkeepsie can give Kingston trouble.

LSU, Alabama and Kentucky Key Saturday Picks

When Fran Curci took over as head football coach at the University of Kentucky this season, it was generally agreed that it would only be a matter of time before the Wildcats returned to the winning habits they enjoyed in the late 1940's and early 1950's when Paul "Bear" Bryant was at the helm.

Curci came to Kentucky with the reputation as a "winner," having built the University of Tampa into a small college power, and later gotten the University of Miami (Fla.) grid program back on its feet.

He is young, imaginative and filled with the kind of spirit that is so indigenous to the college campus. What's more Curci's enthusiasm and ideas have begun to pay off sooner than expected for Kentucky football fans, who were not really expecting any miracles in one year.

Curci hasn't produced any miracles as such, but what he has given Kentucky followers is a ray of hope for the future. The Wildcats, who play a tough schedule as a member of the Southeastern Conference, have played exciting football this season and have given both second-ranked Alabama and seventh-ranked LSU a tussle.

The Wildcats have already equalled last year's victory total with three triumphs in seven games, and their play has improved steadily each game.

That brings us up to Saturday and Kentucky's next opponent—Tulane. The Green Wave is unbeaten and untied in six games this year and is ranked No. 13 in the latest UPI Coaches ratings. Watch this one closely! Kentucky is ready to spring an upset, and this could be the week. The game is at Lexington, Ky., and our Southern regional forecaster is confident that the Green Wave has finally met its match.

Our regional predictors are Fred McMane of New York (East), David Moffit of Atlanta (South), Ed Sainsbury of Chicago (Midwest), Charlie Smith of Kansas City (Midlands), Mike Rabun of Dallas (Southwest), Tracy Ringolsby of Denver (Rockies) and Joe Sargis of San Francisco (Far West).

Bowie Kuhn Places Finley on Indefinite Probation

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bowie Kuhn, the baseball commissioner, finally has flexed his muscles.

He has placed Oakland owner Charles O. Finley on indefinite probation and pointedly warned him that next time he may come down on him with both feet.

Kuhn has not only fined Finley $7,000 and put him on probation for three separate actions during the world series, but has threatened him with much stiffer punishment if he commits another misstep.

Next time, Kuhn has notified Finley he may hit him with Article 1 of the Major League Agreement.

One of the provisions of that article gives the commissioner the power to remove any officer of a major league club if he deems it to be in the best interest of baseball.

"Yes, I have paid the $7,000," acknowledges Finley. "I have sent him (Kuhn) a check with a letter of protest and I'm requesting a hearing before the executive council of baseball as soon as possible.

"I have been notified about my probation and have no comment on that at this time. Nor do I have any comment about what the commissioner says he might do next time."

Finley, however, did have some comments about his fine, probably the largest against any owner in all baseball history.

One of his comments dealt with reserve second baseman Mike Andrews, who cost the A's the second world series game with the New York Mets because of a pair of errors. For the manner in which Finley tried to place Andrews on the disabled list, Kuhn fined him $5,000.

"They said I fired Mike Andrews, but I didn't," insists Finley. "We had waivers on him. Last Friday we asked unconditional release waivers on him. Any club can claim him for a dollar. Those waivers expire at noon today. If nobody claims him, he's a free agent."

What it means is Andrews has no job anymore.

"This is further proof that the man is disabled, and that's all we really were saying when we asked for a substitute," said Finley. "For that I was fined $5,000."

Kuhn did not announce Finley's probation publicly. He revealed it instead in a letter he wrote to Finley last Friday. The commissioner also sent a copy of the letter to Joe Cronin and Charles "Chub" Feeney, the two league presidents; all the major league owners and presidents and all the general managers.

"The Oakland club is hereby to remit the sum of $7,000, its check to be received here no later than Nov. 1, 1973," Kuhn said in the letter mailed to Finley from his office.

"I also determined that you personally shall be placed on probation until further notice and warn you that further conduct not in the best interest of baseball may lead to disciplinary action against you as provided in Article 1 of the Major League Agreement."

Another provision of Article 1 enables the commissioner to deprive a major league official from attending the joint meetings. The provision was used to force out a former National League owner 30 years ago after he had been found to be associating with known gamblers.

Kuhn now has fined Finley three different times. He fined him during the players' strike two years ago for remarks Kuhn consideed uncalled for and shortly thereafter again for Finley's actions duing a lengthy bitter holdout session with A's lefthander Vida Blue.

This time Finley drew three separate fines, two for $1,000 apiece plus the one for $5,000 over his handling of Andrews.

"One of those $1,000 fines, according to the commissioner, was for 'the sole purpose of trying to embarrass the New York (Mets) club,'" says Finley.

"We didn't try to embarrass the New York club. We simply made an announcement that the Mets were playing with 25 players and we were being allowed to play with only 24. We had asked permission to place (reserve second baseman) Manny Trillo on our roster as a replacement for one of our other injured players, but we were denied permission to do so. For merely announcing that, for simply letting our fans know, we're fined $1,000."

Finley says Bob Scheffing, the Mets' general manager, actually had no objection to the A's using Trillo. The Oakland owner says Scheffing told him he had to say no to the request though on orders from Feeney. Scheffing denies saying that.

Finley drew the second $1,000 fine for taking it upon himself to have the lights at Oakland Coliseum turned on as his team was coming to bat in the bottom of the ninth inning of the second World Series contest.

"It was for the safety of my players and not to gain any hitting advantage," insists Finley. "It was getting very dark at home plate."

As for Andrews, Finley had him examined by Dr. Harry R. Walker after the second baseman cost the A's the second game with his two errors.

"Dr. Walker examined Andrews and in his opinion the player's shoulder was disabled," says Finley. "I asked Mike Andrews if he was willing to sign a statement agreeing to that. He said, 'yes, Mr. Finley, I will sign if you will guarantee me a major league contract for 1974.'

Steelers Reject Unitas

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers, who didn't want John Unitas in 1955, say they still don't want him.

The San Diego Chargers, who bought Unitas from Baltimore for $150,000 this year and signed him to a two-year contract reportedly worth $250,000 a season, offered the 40-year-old quarterback to the Steelers this week.

The Steelers, who originally drafted Unitas in 1955 but released him before the season, replied, "we're not interested," a Pittsburgh spoksman said Wednesday.

Steelers' Vice President Dan Rooney said Coach Chuck Noll, a former assistant at Baltimore, turned down a deal for Unitas even though starter Terry Bradshaw is sidelined by a shoulder injury and backup Terry Hanratty has bruised ribs.

Rooney quoted Noll as saying Sunday "he was satisfied with his remaining quarterbacks, and he said that again at a press luncheon Monday." After the call from Chargers executive counsel Ron Mix, Rooney said, "there was no change in Chuck's sentiments."

Since the National Football League trading deadline has expired, players can change clubs only by waivers, in which teams can enter a claim in reverse order of last year's finish. The new team assumes the player's current salary.

However, Mix said San Diego would want more than the $100 waiver price for the NFL's all-time leading passer.

"There is no way we are going to give John Unitas away," Mix said. "A very high price was placed on Unitas." He didn't name the price.

Unitas, who played a year of sandlot ball and then signed with the Colts after his initial rejection by the Steelers, was benched by Baltimore at midseason last year, then sold to the Chargers this season.

He started San Diego's first four games but was benched midway through a 38-21 loss to Pittsburgh Oct. 7 and hasn't played since.

Sports Notebook

Charles J. Tiano, Sports Editor

It may not be as bad as the Israeli-Arab situation, but the detente between area sportsmen's groups is rather shaky on two major items, as the 1973 big game hunting season is about to come on the scene.

There is major agreement on one issue. Pressure must be brought to bear on New York City to clean up the portal discharge from the Schoharie Reservoir. The portal, all parties agree, pours too much silt in the Esopus and is causing severe damage to the stream. And New York should be made to foot the bill.

The Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster County, led by their outspoken president, Frederick G. Faerber III, and the Catskill area chapter of Trout Unlimited take diametrically opposite positions on the proposal to limit the daily take of trout from 10 to five in the Esopus Creek.

A motion to be argued before Supreme Court Justice Louis G. Bruhn Friday morning finds the Ulster federation and Sullivan County sportsmen sharing opposite views on whether or not the state has a right to require the listing of Social Security numbers on hunting license applications.

Specifically, the latter issue is between Faerber and the Town of Rosendale through its town clerk, Catherine A. O'Leary and Henry L. Diamond, the state's Commissioner of Environmental Conservation. The order calls on the commissioner to show cause why all such records, already made of Social Security numbers on hunting licenses should not be destroyed.

The new requirement, without previous warning by the state, went into effect the latter part of September. It came as a helluva shock to hunters and clerks around the ponent of gun control legislation, is bringing the action as an individual. But the fact he is president of the Federated Sportsmen with 44 clubs and approximately 8,000 members indicates broad-based support for his position.

Attorney William P. Curran of Rosendale, who is representing Faerber, said in his brief that the practice "must be immediately stopped and prohibited, as it is unlawful, unconstitutional, devious, deceitful, illegal, fradulent and an un-American way of impressing and oppressing gun control registration on the hunters of this state, in violation of the federal constitution and the rights of the citizens of this state to be protected against the State of New York."

Stripped of its legalese, the statement reiterates Faerber's and sportsmen's long-held view that this is just another gimmick that chips away a person's right to own and bear arms. Gun control advocates have not been able to legislate laws in that area. The Social Security ruse is viewed, in effect, as one type of gun registration and the sportsmen don't like it.

Conservation Department spokesmen explained to sportsmen's groups around the state that the use of the Social Security number on license applications is the start of a computer system to eliminate license issuing problems and to prevent a hunter whose license has been revoked or suspended from obtaining a fraudulent license from another issuing agent. Faerber doesn't buy this explanation.

Sullivan County sportsmen at their October meeting defeated a move to support the court action. They took the position that the state will devise an accurate method of identifying licenses whether by use of the Social Security number or other numbers similar to those on motor vehicle licenses.

An informed source told us that the state has since rescinded the Social Security order, but the Conservation Department declined comment on that or what position it would take in Supreme Court Friday morning.

After being shunted from department to department, we got the message. Nobody was talking and a couple of promises that 'we'll get back to you on this' were disregarded. We knew there would be no return calls.

The dispute between Faerber and the Federation and Trout Unlimited over the reduction of trout limits in the Esopus Creek is a long way from being reconciled. The sportsmen locked horns for three hours in a recent meeting at New Paltz without resolving this issue or changing their stands.

Faerber may have rendered the whole debate academic when he said the bag limit was not the real problem in the Esopus. "The problem is silt," said the Federation president.

Ralph Arone Is Back On Monticello Scene

MONTICELLO — The biggest smile and the wahmest hello in the paddock at Monticello Raceway belongs to 40-year-old Ralph Arone and the past three or four months, maybe he could teach a lesson for a guy who hasn't had too much going his way up until to the hardened politicians and diplomats that grab most of today's headlines.

It's been quite a while since Arone was making a good living racing the likes of Bedford Jamies, Marcel Nir and Iosola Scotland at Yonkers and Roosevelt Raceways, but that would be living in the past, something he doesn't really like to do. Right now, the transplanted Italian-American (we'll explain that in a minute) is in charge of an 18-horse stable at the Mighty M, quite a change from his one-horse operation of just three months back.

"I was born in this country but returned with my family to Italy when I was only 18 months old," said Arone recently, "and we lived in Calabria in southern Italy. I wanted to come back to the United States when I was just hitting my teens, but the war prevented that. I finally made it here in 1950. Before I could find a place to sit I was off to Korea for two years and then London as a member of the United States Marines."

Arone, who speaks with a strong Italian accent, left the Marines as a sergeant and immediately returned to the New York area where he opened a restaurant in White Plains with the help of his wife. It took one of his customers, trainer-driver Joe Adamo, to get Arone to switch from hot dogs to harness.

"We had horses on our farm back in Italy and I always got along well with them, Ralph continued. "When Joe kept on talking about harness racing, I knew I had to give it a try. I started as a groom in his stable and after four years, I went on my own in 1963. I had some real fine stock in the beginning but soon things got rough and in 1967, I backed out on the game."

Just as strangely as he disappeared in 1967, Arone popped back on the scene in June of 1973 at Monticello Raceway, knocking on the door of racing secretary, Ralph Swalsky and looking for a stall for his one-horse stable, a New Zealand pacer called Charlie Kelly.

"The only help I had was my 1-year-old daughter, Gina, and she and Charlie Kelly kept me smiling in the beginning," he remarked. "And then all of a sudden old friends came around and gave horses to train. I now have almost too many to handle. There aren't too many top stars under the shedrow, but each horse in an individual and and I look after each one the same way."

Lyle Winner

By TOM FERRARO

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Ron Lyle, the slugging ex-con from Denver, continued his hectic march to become heavyweight boxing champion Wednesday night scoring a unanimous 10-round decision over Baltimore's Larry Middleton. It was his seventh straight win in eight months.

Lyle, 31, ranked fifth by the World Boxing Association, appeared in complete control throughout the bout as he relentless stalked the ninth-ranked Middleton with a barrage of blows to the head and body. Middleton, 31, as he predicted, outdanced the bull-like Lyle, but could not outpunch him.

The two judges and referee gave the bout to Lyle with scores of 50-42, 47-43 and 47-43.

The win lifted Lyle's record to 26-1. His only loss was a 12-round decision to Jerry Quarry in New York last February. Middleton's record is now 20-4-1.

Lyle knocked Middleton out in three rounds in his home-town last December.

Seated in his locker room after the fight with an ice pack pressed to his forehead, Lyle said, "listen, you can't knock out everybody. I'm just happy I won."

There were no knockdowns in Wednesday's fight. Middleton, however, tripped to the canvas in the third round. The most visible damage in the brawl was a Middleton bloody nose.

Lyle said Middleton's dancing and "refusal to fight" was the reason he couldn't knock him out.

Middleton said the reason Lyle couldn't kayo him "was that he couldn't hit me and I could take everthing he gave out. I also gave him more than he expected."

Middleton hinted before the fight that he might retire if he lost but afterwards said he will stay in the fight game.

He also said that Lyle isn't good enough to be heavyweight chanpion. 'As soon as I get a few rounds under my belt, I want another rematch and next time I'll whup him."

Lyle meets Greg Peralta in Germany next month and said he would then like to get a rematch with Quarry.

Ferraro Missing

Bob Sinnott Top Pinman

STONE RIDGE — Steve Ferraro, the 1972 National Junior College Athletic Association singles champion, is among the missing, but Ulster County Community College bowling coach Al DiBernardo has two veterans back for the 1973 season.

The two are Bob Sinnott Saugerties High graduate, who was the team's No. 2 bowler with a 189 average last season and Mike Simmonetti, former Kingston High bowler who was the fifth ranking bowler with a 170 average in the 1972 campaign.

"Replacing Steve (Ferraro) is our biggest problem," Coach DiBernardo is quick to admit. "We're counting on Sinnott to take up some of the slack." The team's most promising prospect appears to be Chris Schick, formerly of Kingston High, who is one of the top young bowlers in the Kingston area.

Other candidates for the team are Kevin O'Connor, Saugerties; Ed Mayone, Kingston; Frank Schaeffer, New Paltz; Jack Cleveland, Wallkill; Mark Soodak, Yonkers; and Ron Trippodo of Kingston.

The team has been practicing at Ferraro's Bowlerama in Kingston.

NOTICE OF CHANGE IN GAS RATE SCHEDULE

On October 12, 1973 Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation filed with the Public Service Commission of the State of New York revisions to gas rate schedule, P.S.C. No. 11—Gas, to become effective November 29, 1973. Said revisions propose a change in the Gas Cost Adjustment Clause whereby (a) rates stated in Service Classification Nos. 3, 4 and 5 would be subject to increase or decrease at the rate of 0.0109 rather than the present rate of 0.0108 cents per 100 cubic feet for each change of 0.01 cent per 100 cubic feet from a base commodity cost of gas of 3.016 cents per 100 cubic feet and (b) rates stated in Service Classification Nos. 1 and 2 would be subject to increase or decrease at the rate of 0.0109 rather than the present rate of 0.0108 cents per 100 cubic feet for each change of 0.01 cent per 100 cubic feet from a base cost of gas of 6.178 cents per 100 cubic feet computed after excluding volumes and costs of gas purchased for sale under Service Classification Nos. 3, 4 and 5 and purchased for electric generating fuel.

Your Horoscope

Friday, November 2

fine day for you to accomplish a great deal in social or humanitarian directions with just enough opposition from others to make you feel there is a challenge. Make long-range plans for the future. Don't take risks.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Plan to contact as many influential people as you can but steer clear of experts who are demanding. Friends can be most helpful to you.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Avoid a jealous associate and engage in projects that bring you in contact with higher-ups. Try not to quarrel with anyone now.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Ideal day to forget routines and get into new outlets that will liven your spirit. Handle correspondence and take time for studying.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Sidestep those who want to take you away from important work you have to handle today. Follow your hunches for best results.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) An associate who thinks along modern lines has the right answers for a perplexing problem. Home tie is too demanding for the right advice.

VIGRO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can incorporate a new system now that will make your work more efficient and profitable. Show more understanding for a co-worker.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Plan to be with person you really like during your spare time today. Try to make others feel happier. Don't be stingy with compliments.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Planning improvements to home or just relaxing there is fine now. Listen to one whose judgment you respect. Dress in good taste.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Elevate your conciousness so that you make more of your life and become more affluent in the near future. Use positive thinking.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Listening carefully to what clever persons have to say will help you get ahead much faster now. Stick to experts you can trust.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have a fine mode of thinking now and can take care of problematical affairs in a most intelligent way. Be an optimist.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Anything of importance that is puzzling to you should be studied carefully now. Don't go off on any tangents. Be more progressive.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those progressive individuals who can have much success provided you give a good education. Teach your progeny to understand others better and to be more cooperative. A government connection would be fine here or whatever has to do with property, management, banking, etc.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

SPLIT: (Q.) I split up with Rod because I don't want to smoke pot. I think it is stupid. He would rather smoke it than go out with me. He thinks he is really tough.

Should I go back with him even though he does smoke pot or should I just be good friends with him?—Lonesome in Connecticut.

(A.) When you go ont with a marijuana smoker, you go into an atmosphere that can affect you strongly even if you never light up a joint yourself. It is, in my opinion, a harmful atmosphere to be in.

Let Rod go his way without you as long as he insistes on smoking pot.

SKIN STYLE: (Q.) We can wear short blouses to school, but my mother won't let me. She says they look too naked with my skin showing.

I think they look O.K. with hip huggers or hiigh-rise pants. What do you think?—14 in Texas

(A.) The only females who look really good in short tops and hip-hugging pants are young girls such as you.

But I must agree with your mothr that there are other fashioins better suited for high-school and junior-high-school wear.

Save your short blouses for after-school and weeknds.

There may be some bridge player somewhere who never falsecards. We haven't met him yet, but he must be there. On the other hand thee are plenty of players who falsecard as a matter of habit. They don't recognize that there is a real art in false carding.

Now look at the South hand. West opens the jack of hearts. East follows with the deuce. The automatic falsecarder wins with the ace. The non-falsecarderwins with the queen. The artful falsecarder wins with the king two-thirds of the time and with the queen the other third. He never considers playing the ace!

Let's see why. He leads a diamond to dummy's queen at trick two. East takes his ace and considers what suit to return. He knows from the jack lead that his partner doesn't hold the queen. Therefore the automatic falsecarder who played the ace is now marked with both king and queen and a heart return is hopeless. He slaps down his queen and a heart return is hopeless. He slaps down his queen of clubs and it will be a hot day in January before South makes his three notrump.

He might shift to a club if South had won with the king or queen, or he might return a heart on the theory that his partner had led from A-J-10.

Ford Hearings Underway

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford told the historic congressional hearings into his vice presidential nomination today that he is "not a saint" and that he welcomes the closest scrutiny of his fitness for the job.

Ford, 60, the Republican House minority leader from Michigan, was leadoff witness as the Senate Rules Committee opened hearings into his nomination to succeed Spiro T. Agnew as the 40th vice president of the United States.

"I recognize and welcome the fact that this committee, as it should, will inquire fully into my worthiness to have the trust of the nation," Ford said in a prepared opening statement.

"I am not a saint and I'm sure I have done things I might have done better or differently or not at all," Ford said. "But I believe and hope that I have been honest with myself and with others."

"Through my testimony it is my intention to replace misunderstanding with understanding and to subsitute truth for untruths."

Ford also defended his consistent support of the Nixon administration and said "for that I have no apologies. If being for his President and for his party and for its candidates disqualified anyone from becoming vice president, then we'll never have another Truman, Nixon, Johnson or Humphrey."

There were only small clouds on Ford's horizon amid indications he would win congressional approval by the end of this month, but Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., chairman of the committee, made it clear on the eve of the hearings that his panel will scrutinize the Ford nomination closely.

"I have seen things that will certainly raise questions that we will bring out with Mr. Ford," Cannon told newsmen Wednesday after reviewing FBI investigative reports.

Included in those "things," said Cannon, are allegations that Ford traded political favors in exchange for political contributions, charges made in a book "The Washington Pay-Off" by former lobbyist Robert N. Winter-Berger.

Ford has branded the Winter-Berger allegations "categorically untrue," but Cannon said the same allegations were made by persons other than Winter-Berger. Cannon would not elaborate.

Other issues Cannon said Ford would be questioned on include his views on a new Watergate prosecutor, the latest developments in the Nixon tapes controversy, Ford's own efforts in 1970 to impeach Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, and Ford's position on executive privilege.

Ford said after his nomination by President Nixon on Oct. 12 that he decided to open "every record relating to my public service, my personal finances, my health and the health of my wife and children."

Ford said the records he ordered open to investigators included "all of my campaign finances, office and personal bank accounts—even our children's savings accounts—my income tax records and confidential financial disclosure reports required by House rules."

Once-a-Month Hike In Gasoline Prices

By United Press International

The Cost of Living Council Wednesday decided to allow once-a-month increases in the cost of gasoline. The change from the earlier freeze on prices was made after a months-long campaign by gas station operators who complained that theirs was the only industry in the country that was forced to absorb increases in wholesale costs without being able to pass them on to the consumer.

John T. Dunlop, director of the council, said the price hikes would only be permitted to pass on increases in the price of production. The move applies to all segments of the petroleum industry.

The airline industry, which buys about 10 billion gallons of jet fuel a year, said Thursday that it will try to cut more than 100,000 flights a year from its schedules in an effort to conserve fuel. The cuts, scattered throughout the air route system, would total about 300 daily from the current 14,000-a-day schedule.

Pan American airlines asked the Civil Aeronautics Board Wednesday for permission to open talks with other airlines on reducing the number of cross-Atlantic flights, claiming the "critical scarcity" of aviation fuel for international flights "is already reflected in sharply rising fuel prices."

Trans World Airlines was expected to do the same in a few days.

Troop Reductions East-West Topic

VIENNA (UPI) — The United States plans to push for quick reductions in American and Soviet troop levels in Europe during East-West talks on military cuts in the region, U.S. officials said today.

Delegates from the Warsaw Pact and North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) nations opened the negotiations two days ago and agreed to begin detailed talks on force reductions next Tuesday.

The U.S. officials said the first phase of the talks will concentrate on force cuts by the superpowers in Central Europe followed by negotiations on troop reductions by East and West European nations in the region.

The officials said America would like an early agreement enabling Washington to pull some of its troops out of Europe by next year. The Russians have suggested 1975 for a start of the withdrawal.

They said the negotiations will aim at a reduction of tanks as well as troops in the region. The Western delegates hope to whittle down the 3-1 numerical armored superiority of the Soviet bloc.

The NATO nations have agreed to push for a mutual reduction of East and West forces to "equal levels," which would involve greater cutbacks by the considerably larger Communist force.

The Warsaw Pact countries, however, appear intent on keeping their numerical superiority in troops and tanks. The Soviets told the opening session of the conference they favor force cuts, but the present power balance in Central Europe must not be changed.

U.S. officials said the conference got off to a satisfactory start despite the differences between delegates from the East and West. They said the Soviets displayed a businesslike attitude and emphasized the importance of relaxation of tensions.

The officials cautioned, however, against expecting quick or easy agreements with the Communists and said patience will be needed before accords emerge.

Most Sensational Jail Escape In Northern Ireland History

DUBLIN (UPI) — A helicopter swooped down into a Dublin prison yard Wednesday, picked up three key leaders of the Irish Republican Army and whirled away in the most sensational jail escape in Ireland's history.

Army troops and police immediately launched a nationwide manhunt for the fugitive IRA chiefs, the heavily armed hijackers and a man described as a "bogus" American filmmaker who rented the chopper.

The slick, James Bond-style operation at Mountjoy prison freed Seumus Twomey, the veteran IRA commander in Belfast, and two other IRA leaders, Joe O'Hagan and Kevin Mallon.

"It's just as well they didn't use a jumbo jet or they would have cleared the whole prison," said one police officer as the helicopter roared away in a storm of dust.

Premier Liam Cosgrave, described by his aides as "furious," called his cabinet into emergency session to discuss the escape.

Twomey, formerly in charge of the IRA's Belfast operation, took over as chief of staff of the extremist Roman Catholic group when Sean Macstiofain was sentenced to six months in jail. Twomey was jailed last month for a three year term.

The dramatic escape began just after 3 p.m. as 23 IRA prisoners were being exercised in the prison yard. Ten guards watched.

"A helicopter hovered overhead," a prison officer recalled. "But we did not pay it any attention. Suddenly it dropped onto the yard. We were stunned."

Cancer Research Team Using Laetrile in Tests

cancer research institute urged caution Wednesday in interpreting positive results in treating mice with the drug Laetrile.

The Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research said the effects on mice might have no bearing on use of Laetrile on humans.

Dr. Kanamatsu Sugiura of the institute had made a preliminary report based on a 10-month series of experiments involving a strain of mice that develops breast cancer. Although he found some positive findings that the drug inhibits the spread of cancer in mouse lungs, Sloan-Kettering authorities told UPI the unpublished report is not complete.

Much more experimentation is needed to verify preliminary evidence that the drug could have some effect in arresting the growth of cancer in humans, the authorities said.

A spokesman for Dr. Robert Good, president of the institute, said Sugiura was only one member of a team working with Laetrile.

The drug has been the subject of controversy for more than 25 years. Its manufacture and use is prohibited in the United States.

"Laetriles are of no value in the diagnosis, treatment, alleviation or cure of cancer," the California Department of Public Health has said.

However, the chairman of the President's Cancer Panel, Benno C. Schmidt, stated recently "It is possible that it (Laetrile) has some effect."
